Administration Proposes Five-Year School Aid Plan

'Banker's Bill' Taunt Leveled By Sen. Murray

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration Monday formally unveiled a five-year program of federal school aid, aimed at helping to provide five billion dollars worth of facilities.

The program was presented by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, as one that would help needy school districts and institutions of higher learning without pushing President Eisenhower's budget into the red.

Flemming disputed advance criticism by Sen. James Murray (D-Mont), chairman of the Senate Education subcommittee, that the administration plan is aimed at helping bankers rather than students and teachers.

Secretary Defends Plan

The secretary told a news conference that under the new bill, school districts urgently in need of schools could get federal aid amounting to half the cost of bonds and interest incurred to build schools.

He figured this would make it possible to begin three billion dollars worth of construction during the next five years in money-short communities.

Colleges and universities could get federal help in debt retirement with the government agreeing to pay 25 per cent of the principal of long-term bonds issued by institutions to finance housing, academic or other educational facilities.

The federal payments would be limited to half a billion dollars, or 25 per cent of the total construction cost of two billions in the college program.

3 Billions For Public Schools

A total of three billions was figured for the public school program, for a grand total of five billions.

The total cost to the federal government, spread over 25 years or so, was estimated at 2½ billion dollars.

Sen. Murray and 30 other senators are jointly sponsoring a bill that would provide $1,100,600,000 in federal aid to states the first year and increase this to $4,700,000,000 after four years. The money could be used for construction or teacher pay.

Iraq Believed In Grave Peril Of Red Seizure

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)— Oil-rich Iraq, a pro-Western monarchy less than a year ago, is in grave danger of seizure by the Communists, Western observers said here Monday.

A swift succession of events in Baghdad during the last four days pointed to major Soviet and local Communist advances, and a deepening of the struggle in the Arab world over Gamal Abdel Nasser and his call for an overall Arab union under his leadership.

There were these developments:

—Iraq signed a pact with Russia providing for a substantial amount of technical and economic aid, with an influx of Soviet technicians to help carry out a five-year development program.

—The government announced Col. Abdel Salam Aref, the No. 2 man in the revolt that overthrew pro-Western King Faisal last July 14, had been sentenced to death for plotting the assassination of Premier Karim Kassem.

The last anti - Communist ministers in the Kassem cabinet resigned and were replaced with leftist ministers.

In Damascus, Syria, the local press reported still another shakeup. The papers said Sheikh Mohammed Mendi Bubba resigned his membership in a three-man sovereignty council set up last July in protest against "Communist influence" in the cabinet.

The Communist Party in Iraq, suppressed under King Faisal, came out into the open after the July revolt and fed on the dissension caused between the Kassem and Aref factions. Aref wanted union with Nasser's United Arab Republic. Kassem opposed it. As the death sentence for Aref proved last Saturday, Kassem won the battle.

Blasts Wreck Fordham Lab

NEW YORK (UPI)—A fire and at least 30 explosions wrecked a Fordham University chemistry laboratory Monday, but quick-thinking students fled with all the vials, papers and books they could carry to save vital atomic and cancer research materials.

No one was killed. Only one injury was reported, and it was slight. A student suffered a slight electric shock while trying to put out the fire with a hand extinguisher.

As they left the burning building, students picked up brief cases and other materials belonging to professors who were not at the scene. When the absent scientists rushed to the flaming building, several of them burst into tears thinking their life's work had gone up in smoke.

But their sorrow soon turned to joy when they saw what the students had done. One professor was jubilant over retrieving a water-logged chemistry book that he said was invaluable.

Officials of Fordham said about $250,000 worth of laboratory equipment was destroyed.

Reuther's View Hit By C Of C Economist

WASHINGTON (AP)—An economist for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce deplored Monday the "wringing of hands" in comparing American economic growth with that of the Soviet bloc.

The chamber's Walter Fackler differed sharply with labor leader Walter Reuther who said the Communists rapidly are closing the economic gap and that this poses a serious threat for the future.

The opposing viewpoints came in testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee. That group is studying various aspects of the nation's economy and policies affecting it.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and a vice president of the AFL-CIO, said U.S. production probably still is more than double that of Russia but that economic growth in the Soviet Union is advancing four or five times as fast as this country's has in recent years.

"If both economies continue simply to grow at the same pace as they have done respectively since 1950," Reuther said "it will be a mere 17 or 18 years until Soviet production can match and surpass ours in volume, and from that point forward it is they who will threaten to take a commanding lead."

He contended a lack of vision and determination in government policies has cost the United States more than 100 billion dollars in production gains over the last six years.

Fackler, the U.S. chamber's assistant director of economic research, waved aside that sort of talk, saying "comparison of growth rates of the United States with those of Soviet Russia too often degenerate into an infantile numbers game."

He argued that changes in output per man hour or in the total output of goods and services "do not adequately measure growth in productive capacities."

Robbers Take Jewels Valued At Half-Million

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two holdup men robbed a jewelry importing firm Monday of gems valued at $500,000 retail.

It was the second major Miami area jewel robbery in two days. A thief took $400,000 worth of gems from a suite at the Americana Hotel on Miami Beach Sunday.

A man armed with a .45 revolver walked into the eighth floor office of the Al Levinson Co., and ordered four workers and one visiting jewelry salesman to "hit the floor and don't look up."

A sixth man, known to the firm only as "Nicky," joined forces with the gunman and aided in picking up the loot, mostly set and unset diamonds. The company said "Nicky" had bought a $1,800 diamond ring Friday and paid cash for it.

The others present were bound, blindfolded and gagged with adhesive tape.

The gems' retail worth was estimated by Bud Levinson, son of the firm's owner. Levinson said their wholesale value was about $250,000. The elder Levinson reported they were insured for about 70 or 80 per cent of their worth.

Joint Allied Berlin Stand Worked Out

New Western Note Said To Turn Down Soviet Parley Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said Monday the West would reject any Soviet move to substitute East German Communists for Russians in controlling access to Berlin.

Dulles served notice of this joint allied stand on his return from a six-day flying visit to Europe where he talked with British, French and West German leaders.

He arranged to report personally on his talks to President Eisenhower after an afternoon meeting with Willy Brandt, West Berlin's visiting mayor.

Brandt reported after a 30-minute meeting with Dulles that the secretary had given him "strong new reassurances" the United States would firmly defend its rights in Berlin.

"Firm Position"

He said this "firm position" by Dulles also covered an American demand for continued free access to and from the former German capital.

Dulles met with Brandt while American, British and French diplomats put the finishing touches to a new Big Three note to Russia.

The note was understood to reject Russia's bid for a 28-nation German peace conference. The Allies were reported proposing instead a foreign ministers' conference in May to discuss Germany's future and European security, as well as Berlin.

On his arrival at the airport, Dulles sought to offset reports of allied differences on how to deal with the Soviet threat to end four-power rule in Berlin May 27.

Rights To Be Preserved

"We have confirmed the unity and firmness of our position," he said. "We do not accept the substitution of East Germans for the Soviet Union in its responsibilities toward Berlin and its obligations to us.

"We are resolved that our position in, and access to, West Berlin shall be preserved. We are in general agreement as to the procedures we shall follow if physical means are invoked to interfere with our rights in this respect."

He refused to say exactly what allied plan of action would be invoked if the Reds set up a new blockade of West Berlin. However, informed authorities said a defensive airlift would not necessarily be the West's initial action.

Contractor Kills His Former Wife, Turns Gun On Self

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — A building contractor shot his former wife to death Monday as she rode to work with an evangelist, then drove into an alley and killed himself.

James Moyer, 42, a nondenominational evangelist, told police Sam Stigall, 45, drove alongside and fired nine bullets into the car and two more into his ex-wife, Eva Mae, 42, after she fell into the street.

Moyer, the divorced father of four children, said Mrs. Stigall had just picked him up, and he took the wheel to drive to a factory where both worked.

The evangelist said Mrs. Stigall fell out of the car as he backed around a corner to try to escape the rain of bullets from Stigall's .22 caliber rifle.

Stigall was found later in his own car in an alley a half mile away, dead from a bullet wound in the middle of his forehead. The rifle was beside him.

Polish Priest Given 2-Year Prison Term

WARSAW (UPI) — Roman Catholic priest and publisher Marian Pirozynski was sent to prison for two years Monday on charges of bribery and corruption of officials, publishing without censorship permission and foreign exchange offenses.

Ten other defendants, printing house managers and employes, received prison sentences or fines; three were found innocent, and one case was dropped.

"I am guilty," the ascetic-looking priest said in his closing defense statement. Then he asked to bear the punishment for all his co-defendants.

The court insisted that political factors were not involved in the trial, even though some of Father Pirozynski's publications did contain "anti-state texts."

Big Ice Storm Puts Midwest Cities On Skids

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Midwest slipped and slithered on a mammoth sheet of ice Monday night and tornadoes, snow storms and dust storms swept other parts of the nation.

In Chicago, the biggest city to go on the skids, hundreds of persons were injured in tumbles on the ice. Police reported traffic smashups by the hundreds and monumental traffic jams.

Other iced cities included Detroit, Kansas City and St. Louis. From Kansas into the Northeast, freezing rain laid down an ice cover which closed schools wholesale, crippled cities, and made driving a job for daredevils.

Iced highways were blamed for traffic accidents that claimed two lives in Illinois, one in Iowa and one in Missouri. A snowstorm in Arizona was blamed partly for the crash of a private plane that killed two Army enlisted men.

Meanwhile, tornado warnings went up in parts of Oklahoma and a twister chewed its way through the southwest Missouri town of Duenweg. The tornado, sounding like a railroad train, tore up a 300-yard wide path for three miles. No one was injured, but power lines were ripped down, all gas, electricity and telephone service was cut off, and residences and buildings were heavily damaged.

Winter dust storms swirled over New Mexico and west Texas, where the wind hit an 86 mile per hour velocity at Borger. The dust cut visibility to a quarter mile at Amarillo, Tex., while high winds tore ornaments from street lights at El Paso. A rain-dust combination produced "mudstorms" in the Panhandle.

The Northeast had its coldest weather of the season—34 below at Newport, Vt.—while Colorado had ice, fog and up to 16 inches of snow which closed one mountain pass and made all others snowpacked.

Favorite Old Jaw-Breaker Put In Eclipse

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the most unusual things about an instrument which measures respiration changes in a patient reacting to sound is its name.

It's a psychostethokyrtographmanometer.

Dr. Harry C. Peake of Parkhill, Ont., Canada, discussed use of the instrument Monday at the mid-winter meeting of the Chicago Dental Society.

Debre Jeered By Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI)—Thousands of jeering, cat-calling French Algerians staged an angry demonstration here Monday against visiting Premier Michel Debre, the right-hand man of President Charles de Gaulle.

The extremist demonstrators, protesting the Algerian policy of the de Gaulle regime, shouted "Debre to the gallows" while the premier placed a wreath on the war memorial in the heart of Algiers.

The demonstrators cheered for the late Marshal Henri-Philippe Petain, collaborationist leader of Vichy France in World War II. They even blasted their own elected representatives to the French parliament with cries of "you have been bought out."

Only a massive turn-out of police and troops prevented a more violent demonstration by the die-hard right-wing settlers who turned against leaders of the May 13 revolt that helped bring de Gaulle to power.

The crowd, nevertheless, manhandled National Assembly Deputy Pierre Lagaillarde, who, as a student leader, headed the assault on the government house here in last May's uprising.

Secretary Is Suffering From Hernia

Confers With Ike, Given 'Few Weeks' Leave Of Absence

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gave Secretary of State Dulles "a few weeks" leave of absence Monday night to undergo a hernia operation and to recover from an old intestinal ailment.

Immediately there was speculation as to whether Dulles would return to his post as top ranking cabinet officer and foreign policy administrator.

His illness cast a pall on the whole Western posture being worked out to meet Russia's new threats and demands in Germany.

Dulles, who will be 71 on Feb. 25 insisted he would be back. He has displayed remarkable recuperative powers in the past — notably after his November 1956 operation for removal of a cancerous portion of his lower intestine.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, who made the surprise announcement, said he not only expected Dulles to return full-time to his duties but to represent the United States at any new talks with Russia on the Berlin crisis.

Will Enter Hospital Tuesday

"He not only has every intention (of returning) but is going to return," Hagerty told newsmen.

Illness has plagued him more than usually of late. In December he was hospitalized with an inflamed colon. In January he passed up a trip to Canada because of a virus infection.

Tuesday Dulles is scheduled to check into Walter Reed Army hospital to prepare for surgery. There was no word from the White House or the State Department when the operation would be performed.

Aides disclosed Dulles is suffering a left inguinal hernia. They said he has been wearing a truss since early last week and has known since early January that he would have to be operated on for the hernia.

The disclosure of Dulles' new illness was made after Dulles had conferred with Eisenhower in the White House second floor living quarters. Dulles went there in late afternoon to report on his flying trip to London, Paris and Bonn, from which he returned only Monday morning.

No Sign Of Malignancy

Hagerty said there is "no sign whatever of anything malignant." Dulles' doctors have said there was nothing cancerous either about his colon inflammation of last December.

Hagerty gave newsmen copies of a letter to the president from Dulles. In it the secretary said his doctors advised an operation for a "recently developed hernia" and prescribed "a few weeks" of recuperation from this and the lingering effects of the colon inflammation.

Dulles said his duties in the meantime could be handled by under secretary Christian Herter or under secretary C. Douglas Dillon.

"I . . . would expect, after a few weeks, to resume fully the duties of my office," Dulles wrote.

But on Capitol Hill, some members of Congress privately expressed belief it will be remarkable if he ever does.

Alexandria Schools Desegregated Today

Five Negroes will enter William Ramsay Elementary School and two, Theodore Ficklin Elementary School.

In addition, two Negroes will enroll in Francis Hammond High School.

Officials of historic Alexandria, who fought a losing legal battle to avoid it, predicted Monday the shift to desegregated schools will be accomplished as smoothly as in Norfolk and in Arlington, where high schools were involved.

Ike To Hold News Conference Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. e.s.t. Tuesday instead of Wednesday because of schedule conflicts.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not meet with Republican congressional leaders Tuesday because several were out of the city this week making Lincoln birthday speeches.

Minnesota Family Of Seven Vanishes In Third Such Case Since Last Dec. 7

SILVER LAKE, Minn. (AP)—Six weeks ago Monday the seven members of the Earl Zrust family vanished without trace. And to the 600 residents of this central Minnesota village the mystery of their whereabouts is as deep as the day they disappeared.

The young building contractor, his wife and five children were last seen Dec. 29. Their ranch style home, built by Zrust on the north edge of town, was found unlocked a day or two later.

The Christmas tree was still standing and all the household furnishings remained. Utilities were not shut off. Only their car, some heavy clothing and possibly some bath linens were found to be missing.

The family's disappearance resembles two similar cases, still unsolved, involving complete families that vanished in Oregon and Virginia.

"They're good people, and we're all concerned," Mayor Joe W. Gehlen said of Zrust, 30, his wife Caroline, 28, and the children, Sandra, 10, Susan, 8, Terry, 5, Douglas, 3, and Russell, 2.

Zrust was a member of the Village Council for the last five years and a lifelong resident here.

Sheriff Leon Odegaard said he has questioned the many relatives and friends of the family and hasn't turned up a clue to their whereabouts.

The sheriff said Zrust had been to the courthouse in Glencoe a day or so before he disappeared. He obtained copies of birth certificates for the entire family, but gave no hint of why he wanted them.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Lipke said there were no unusual withdrawals from Zrust's bank account and that his balance is about normal.

Last Jan. 11, Carroll V. Jackson, 29, his wife, Mildred, 27, and two daughters disappeared en route to their Louisa County, Va., home. They had been driving back from a 40-mile trip to take Jackson's widowed mother for a visit with relatives. Their car was found abandoned on a county road, the keys and personal belongings still in it.

Last Dec. 7, Ken Martin, 54, his wife, 48, and three teen-aged daughters vanished after leaving their Portland, Ore., home to find a Christmas tree. The only trace of them was a credit card gas purchase at Cascade Locks, east of Portland, the same day.

Bad Weather Landings By New Jet Props Curbed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal government ordered Monday limited bad weather landings by the new Electra jet-prop airliners. The safety restrictions — expected to be only temporary—followed last week's East River crash that cost 65 lives.

Nationally, for the time being, the cloud ceilings for such flights were raised 600 feet and visibility requirements doubled. This was intended to give pilots more leeway in landings when they come off instruments and into open weather.

"We're happy to cooperate," said a spokesman for American Airlines, whose Electra flight 320 crashed into the river last Tuesday night when it undershot LaGuardia Field. There were only eight survivors.

"It may put a crimp in our New York-Chicago Electra schedules," the AA spokesman added. "At this time of year, some flights that could operate under normal conditions will have to be canceled."

The restrictions also apply to Electra jet-props flown by Eastern Air Lines.

The new safety limits were set by the Federal Aviation Agency, the new over-all government regulatory agency for commercial air operations.

"The restrictions are temporary, voluntary on the part of the airlines, and the airlines have accepted the restrictions so that the order is in force now," the FAA said.

The FAA is directing the investigation into the East River crash. Thus far, there has been no indication as to why the plane plunged into the river in bad weather just short of LaGuardia.

A man armed with a .45 revolver walked into the eighth floor office of the Al Levinson Co., and ordered four workers and one visiting jewelry salesman to "hit the floor and don't look up."

A sixth man, known to the firm only as "Nicky," joined forces with the gunman and aided in picking up the loot, mostly set and unset diamonds. The company said "Nicky" had bought a $1,300 diamond ring Friday and paid cash for it.

The others present were bound, blindfolded and gagged with adhesive tape.

The gems' retail worth was estimated by Bud Levinson, son of the firm's owner. Levinson said their wholesale value was about $250,000. The elder Levinson reported they were insured for about 70 or 80 per cent of their worth.

Bath Short Of Water

BATH, England (AP)—Bath is short of water.

After 16 days without rain, the city fathers announced an official drought and asked citizens to go easy with the faucet.

Big Ice Storm Puts Midwest Cities On Skids

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Midwest slipped and slithered on a mammoth sheet of ice Monday night and tornadoes, snow storms and dust storms swept other parts of the nation.

In Chicago, the biggest city to go on the skids, hundreds of persons were injured in tumbles on the ice. Police reported traffic smashups by the hundreds and monumental traffic jams.

Other iced cities included Detroit, Kansas City and St. Louis. From Kansas into the Northeast, freezing rain laid down an ice cover which closed schools wholesale, crippled cities, and made driving a job for daredevils.

Iced highways were blamed for traffic accidents that claimed two lives in Illinois, one in Iowa and one in Missouri. A snowstorm in Arizona was blamed partly for the crash of a private plane that killed two Army enlisted men.

Meanwhile, tornado warnings went up in parts of Oklahoma and a twister chewed its way through the southwest Missouri town of Duenweg. The tornado, sounding like a railroad train, tore up a 300-yard wide path for three miles. No one was injured, but power lines were ripped down, all gas, electricity and telephone service was cut off, and residences and buildings were heavily damaged.

Winter dust storms swirled over New Mexico and west Texas, where the wind hit an 86 mile per hour velocity at Borger. The dust cut visibility to a quarter mile at Amarillo, Tex., while high winds tore ornaments from street lights at El Paso. A rain-dust combination produced "mudstorms" in the Panhandle.

The Northeast had its coldest weather of the season—34 below at Newport, Vt.—while Colorado had ice, fog and up to 16 inches of snow which closed one mountain pass and made all others snowpacked.

Favorite Old Jaw-Breaker Put In Eclipse

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the most unusual things about an instrument which measures respiration changes in a patient reacting to sound is its name.

It's a psychostethokyrtographmanometer.

Dr. Harry C. Peake of Parkhill, Ont., Canada, discussed use of the instrument Monday at the mid-winter meeting of the Chicago Dental Society.

After pronouncing it once, he referred to it thereafter simply as the psychograph.

Debre Jeered By Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI)—Thousands of jeering, cat-calling French Algerians staged an angry demonstration here Monday against visiting Premier Michel Debre, the right-hand man of President Charles de Gaulle.

The extremist demonstrators, protesting the Algerian policy of the de Gaulle regime, shouted "Debre to the gallows" while the premier placed a wreath on the war memorial in the heart of Algiers.

The demonstrators cheered for the late Marshal Henri-Philippe Petain, collaborationist leader of Vichy France in World War II. They even blasted their own elected representatives to the French parliament with cries of "you have been bought out."

Only a massive turn-out of police and troops prevented a more violent demonstration by the die-hard right-wing settlers who turned against leaders of the May 13 revolt that helped bring de Gaulle to power.

The crowd, nevertheless, manhandled National Assembly Deputy Pierre Lagaillarde, who, as a student leader, headed the assault on the government house here in last May's uprising.

Blasts Wreck Fordham Lab

NEW YORK (UPI)—A fire and at least 30 explosions wrecked a Fordham University chemistry laboratory Monday, but quick-thinking students fled with all the vials, papers and books they could carry to save vital atomic and cancer research materials.

No one was killed. Only one injury was reported, and it was slight. A student suffered a slight electric shock while trying to put out the fire with a hand extinguisher.

As they left the burning building, students picked up brief cases and other materials belonging to professors who were not at the scene. When the absent scientists rushed to the flaming building, several of them burst into tears thinking their life's work had gone up in smoke.

But their sorrow soon turned to joy when they saw what the students had done. One professor was jubilant over retrieving a water-logged chemistry book that he said was invaluable.

Officials of Fordham said about $250,000 worth of laboratory equipment was destroyed.

Contractor Kills His Former Wife, Turns Gun On Self

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — A building contractor shot his former wife to death Monday as she rode to work with an evangelist, then drove into an alley and killed himself.

James Moyer, 42, a nondenominational evangelist, told police Sam Stigall, 45, drove alongside and fired nine bullets into the car and two more into his ex-wife, Eva Mae, 42, after she fell into the street.

Moyer, the divorced father of four children, said Mrs. Stigall had just picked him up, and he took the wheel to drive to a factory where both worked.

The evangelist said Mrs. Stigall fell out of the car as he backed around a corner to try to escape the rain of bullets from Stigall's .22 caliber rifle.

Stigall was found later in his own car in an alley a half mile away, dead from a bullet wound in the middle of his forehead. The rifle was beside him.

Polish Priest Given 2-Year Prison Term

WARSAW (UPI) — Roman Catholic priest and publisher Marian Pirozynski was sent to pr. for two years Monday on charges of bribery and corruption of officials, publishing without censorship permission and foreign exchange offenses.

Ten other defendants, printing house managers and employes, received prison sentences or fines; three were found innocent, and one case was dropped.

"I am guilty," the ascetic-looking priest said in his closing defense statement. Then he asked to bear the punishment for all his co-defendants.

The court insisted that political factors were not involved in the trial, even though some of Father Pirozynski's publications did contain "anti-state texts."

Minnesota Family Of Seven Vanishes In Third Such Case Since Last Dec. 7

SILVER LAKE, Minn. (AP)— Six weeks ago Monday the seven members of the Earl Zrust family vanished without trace. And to the 600 residents of this central Minnesota village the mystery of their whereabouts is as deep as the day they disappeared.

The young building contractor, his wife and five children were last seen Dec. 29. Their ranch style home, built by Zrust on the north edge of town, was found unlocked a day or two later.

The Christmas tree was still standing and all the household furnishings remained. Utilities were not shut off. Only their car, some heavy clothing and possibly some bath linens were found to be missing.

The family's disappearance resembles two similar cases, still unsolved, involving complete families that vanished in Oregon and Virginia.

"They're good people, and we're all concerned," Mayor Joe W. Gehlen said of Zrust, 30, his wife Caroline, 28, and the children, Sandra, 10, Susan, 8, Terry, 5, Douglas, 3, and Russell, 2.

Zrust was a member of the Village Council for the last five years and a lifelong resident here.

Sheriff Leon Odegaard said he has questioned the many relatives and friends of the family and hasn't turned up a clue to their whereabouts.

The sheriff said Zrust had been to the courthouse in Glencoe a day or so before he disappeared. He obtained copies of birth certificates for the entire family, but gave no hint of why he wanted them.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Lipke said there were no unusual withdrawals from Zrust's bank account and that his balance is about normal.

Last Jan. 11, Carroll V. Jackson, 29, his wife, Mildred, 27, and two daughters disappeared en route to their Louisa County, Va., home. They had been driving back from a 40-mile trip to take Jackson's widowed mother for a visit with relatives. Their car was found abandoned on a county road, the keys and personal belongings still in it.

Last Dec. 7, Ken Martin, 54, his wife, 48, and three teen-aged daughters vanished after leaving their Portland, Ore., home to find a Christmas tree. The only trace of them was a credit card gas purchase at Cascade Locks, east of Portland, the same day.

Bad Weather Landings By New Jet Props Curbed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal government ordered Monday limited bad weather landings by the new Electra jet-prop airliners. The safety restrictions — expected to be only temporary—followed last week's East River crash that cost 65 lives.

Nationally, for the time being, the cloud ceilings for such flights were raised 600 feet and visibility requirements doubled. This was intended to give pilots more leeway in landings when they come off instruments and into open weather.

"We're happy to cooperate," said a spokesman for American Airlines, whose Electra flight 320 crashed into the river last Tuesday night when it undershot LaGuardia Field. There were only eight survivors.

"It may put a crimp in our New York-Chicago Electra schedules," the AA spokesman added. "At this time of year, some flights that could operate under normal conditions will have to be canceled."

The restrictions also apply to Electra jet-props flown by Eastern Air Lines.

The new safety limits were set by the Federal Aviation Agency, the new over-all government regulatory agency for commercial air operations.

"The restrictions are temporary, voluntary on the part of the airlines, and the airlines have accepted the restrictions so that the order is in force now," the FAA said.

The FAA is directing the investigation into the East River crash. Thus far, there has been no indication as to why the plane plunged into the river in bad weather just short of LaGuardia.

Alexandria Schools Desegregated Today

Five Negroes will enter William Ramsay Elementary School and two, Theodore Ficklin Elementary School.

In addition, two Negroes will enroll in Francis Hammond High School.

Officials of historic Alexandria, who fought a losing legal battle to avoid it, predicted Monday the shift to desegregated schools will be accomplished as smoothly as in Norfolk and in Arlington, where high schools were involved.

Ike To Hold News Conference Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. e.s.t. Tuesday instead of Wednesday because of schedule conflicts.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not meet with Republican congressional leaders Tuesday because several were out of the city this week making Lincoln birthday speeches.

Bill Would Change Md. Criminal Insanity Law

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A change in Maryland's 70-year-old basic law on criminal insanity was offered to the General Assembly Monday night.

The Maryland law defining criminal insanity dates from an English rule of 1843.

It is, briefly, that if an accused is adjudged to be able to distinguish between right and wrong at the time of the crime he is held to be responsible for the act.

If he is found to be insane under that rule, yet sane at the time of the trial, he still may use insanity as a defense and probably go free.

Prominent legal experts for years have voiced dissatisfaction with the rule of being able "to distinguish between right and wrong" as ambiguous and unclear.

A committee to study the insanity commitment laws of Maryland was appointed by the Legislative Council in 1957. It recommended a new definition of the criminal insanity rule last December and 23 delegates incorporated it in a bill.

The old rule "was faulty, in that it is too restrictive and if strictly interpreted would fail to exculpate (acquit) some frankly psychotic defendants," said the committee headed by Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher.

It proposed instead that a person pleading innocent by reason of insanity be found innocent "if, as a result of mental disease or deficiency of intelligence at the time of such conduct, he lacks sufficient capacity either to understand and appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of law."

Bills containing two other recommendations of the commission also were introduced in the House.

One would guarantee hearing of full testimony by psychiatrists and provide for commitment of a criminal defendant who was acquitted by reason of insanity at the time of the crime yet was fully recovered.

The other recommendation of the commission provides for emergency admission of mentally ill to hospitals on the signature of a doctor and one relative. Admission now requires signed slips from the various county commissions or the Baltimore City Department of Welfare.

Wife Slayer Takes Own Life

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Frank Ellsworth Shaffer Jr., 36, sought since Saturday in the slaying of his attractive wife, Faith, was found shot to death in a car Monday.

The estranged couple's two sons, 12 and 15, were taken to a home of relatives in Martinsburg, W. Va. after the shooting at a tavern the mother operated.

She was killed by a shotgun blast in the abdomen. Police said Shaffer used a tree branch to trip the trigger of the same shotgun and kill himself. He was hit in the chest and face.

The body was found in a rented car at the Hagerstown sewage disposal plant. Dr. S. R. Wells, medical examiner, said Shaffer apparently died about 10 p.m. Sunday. The body was discovered Monday morning by plant workers.

Shaffer used a long florist's box to carry the shotgun into the tavern Saturday. The box was found in the car.

Police said no notes were found in the automobile.

Translation Puzzle Solved By Army Man

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP)—Army translator Edward Lachowicz likes a challenge and it's a good thing.

He has completed a kind of linguistic crossword puzzle that took about 10 months of his time, including Saturdays and Sundays.

The highly technical and abstruse work he translated from Russian into English is called "The Mechanics of Aerosols." Everyday things like smoke and fog and mist are aerosols. But so are deadly war gases, the kind scientists experiment with at the Army Chemical Center here.

Many government scientists in this country and its Western allies are glad Lachowicz, classified as master specialist, stepped into the translation job.

The newly created National Aeronautics and Space Administration stopped work on the 300-page work. So did British and Canadian translators. They were waiting for the translation by the 50-year-old Polish-born Lachowicz, who is at home with nine languages.

The Chemical Corps got hold of the volume through Dr. W. Ranz, a widely-known aerosologist and consultant to the corps. He along with several other Western scientists whose research work was cited in it had been given a copy by the author, Dr. N. A. Fuks.

Complicating Lachowicz' job was the fact Fuks' book contained mathematical symbols in ancient Greek, Latin and Russian. He also found three original symbols that the author apparently dreamed up himself. The 97 different symbols were scattered through 765 complex equations.

The Army specialist's 554 typewritten page translation was a challenge but Lachowicz added, "When something is difficult it gives me a thrill and a satisfaction."

Antimissile Missile Halt Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack called Monday for the full picture of a Defense Department decision not to order immediately parts of an antimissile missile system.

The Massachusetts Democrat spoke as a member of the House Space Committee, which devoted its session largely to critical questions about the decision by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, who is scheduled to appear before the group on March 2.

McCormack said he is afraid "the sad day" might come when Russia might be ahead of the United States not only in intercontinental ballistic missiles for offensive use, but also in defenses against any counterblows.

There were hints the committee might recommend giving the Army 700 million dollars estimated as needed to start production of some of the more complicated components of the Army's Nike-Zeus antimissile missile system.

Two of the Army's technical chiefs told the committee they recommended — and still believe —the government should lose no time in starting development of a production base for Nike-Zeuses in view of promising technical breakthroughs.

U.S. Steel Records Due For Subpoena In Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — The Journal - American said Monday that the Justice Department is preparing to subpoena the records of United States Steel Corp. in connection with an antitrust investigation.

An article by Leslie Gould, financial editor, said "a grand jury investigation, similar to that just launched against General Motors Corp., is to be made, with two main objectives.

"1. A regional divestment of U. S. Steel's mills where the company has a major share of the steel market.

"2. An end to the present system of pricing."

In response to an inquiry in Washington, the Justice Department noted it has been conducting a lengthy inquiry into the steel fabricating and reinforcement steel businesses on the West Coast, and that this matter will shortly go before a grand jury in San Francisco.

(The Justice Department indicated a number of steel companies are involved in this investigation, which stemmed from complaints received last year. The department declined to name the companies.)

The Journal-American said this is part of the Justice Department's new drive against bigness in business, "particularly where the enterprises are successful."

"The antitrust campaign is bigger than any ever attempted in the past, including the days of Theodore Roosevelt," Gould wrote.

Illegal Adoption Ring Is Probed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Authorities said Monday they are investigating an illegal baby adoption ring which centers on Maryland and does business in several cities on the East Coast.

Police have questioned four women here, particularly about six reportedly illegal adoptions. The most recent, said police, was an unlawful adoption in New York's Bronx last October.

Police said they picked up a male suspect late Monday. Capt. Frank J. Battaglia said police know the identities of principals in the ring and other arrests are expected soon.

There have been earlier reports of an illegal adoption racket on the East Coast.

Authorities here have sent the name of at least one attorney to New York for investigation. Other alleged illegal adoptions may have involved persons in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Investigators said that although six cases have been pretty well pinned down, the number of black market babies passed along by the ring may number up to 100.

Nationalist Gunboat Sunk, China Reds Say

TOKYO (AP)—Red China said Monday its gunboats sank a Nationalist gunboat off Haitan (Pingtan) Island a week ago and that 11 Nationalist special agents died as a result.

Broadcasts by radio Peiping in English and Chinese reported the 11 were killed—witouth specifying whether by gunfire or drowning—and that 12 other men were captured.

In Taipei Rear Adm. Liu Hohtu, chief spokesman of the Nationalist Defense Ministry, said he had no knowledge of such an incident.

Store Robbed Twice In Less Than Week

BALTIMORE (AP)— Even burglars like to hold onto a good thing.

They got $8,509 in cash from the Pressman Brothers store in Baltimore. Just last Thursday, burglars took $1,006 in merchandise at the same place.

Police did not find any signs of forced entry. It was theorized the burglars hid in the store at closing time.

The money, most of it in receipts from money orders, was taken from a safe. Police said the safe apparently was left unlocked.

Fire Damages Store

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)— Fire caused an estimated $30,000 damage to a Peoples Drug Store in the Four Corners shopping center here Sunday night.

Dairy Spokesman Backs Milk Pricing Regulation

BALTIMORE (AP) — A spokesman for a major dairy testified Monday that a federal order could bring "orderly marketing of milk" in Maryland.

Henry E. Butler, manager of milk procurement for Sealtest Foods, Baltimore, testified as a hearing on a proposed milk pricing regulation for Maryland went into its second week.

"We are advised," Butler said, "that the federal order program provides complete and equitable classification, pricing and other plans which apply uniformly to all handlers."

He said should evidence justify the need, Sealtest "has no objection to the issuance of a proper and equitable milk marketing order for the regulation of an appropriate marketing area."

Dairy operators opposing the order will appear at the hearing Wednesday.

They will represent dairies in nearby Pennsylvania and the Maryland Eastern Shore.

The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers Inc. has proposed a federal marketing order that would set minimum dairy - to - farmer prices in all or part of 18 Maryland counties.

Atty. Harold W. Swope of Harrisburg said the dairy operators appearing Wednesday will speak in opposition to the federal order as a whole and specifically against the area it would cover.

Swope contends the area is "so broad that it includes their dairies although they are not identified with the Baltimore market."

The milk cooperative wants to set a minimum price of $5.70 a hundredweight on bottling milk sold by farmers. The cooperative claims to represent some 1,800 producers.

It contends a milk pricing order is needed to provide a reasonable return to dairy farmers.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) —A young Delaware woman died Monday from injuries in an auto accident last Thursday.

First American Spaceman Will Just Orbit Earth

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An expert says America's first space man "will just orbit the earth when we are certain we can get him back."

The space flier won't be aimed at the moon on the first trips, said Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautical and Space Agency at Washington.

Glennan was one of many scientific and military leaders in San Antonio Monday for observance of the 10th anniversary of the founding of the School of Aviation Medicine.

A dozen youths will be chosen as finalists from the 110 selected recently for testing as potential space men. The final dozen will go through intensive training that Glennan said may last many months, perhaps over a year.

Motorist's Record Is Cleared Again

BALTIMORE (AP)—Harold V. Holden's record was cleared again Monday. An 18th traffic charge against him was dismissed.

Magistrate Robert Watts dismissed a charge of operating on a suspended license after Holden's attorney argued Holden never received notice of the suspension.

Previously Chief Magistrate Thomas Dempsey had dismissed 17 traffic counts brought by police against the 36 - year - old Negro mechanic.

There was testimony that a notice of license suspension had been left at Holden's home and that a certified letter was waiting for him at the Post Office. But there was no record of the letter having been picked up.

Atty. Stanley Scherr, former chief traffic court magistrate, said that when his client received a summons Jan. 9 Holden went to the Department of Motor Vehicles to renew his statement of financial responsibility and have his license renewed.

The state's attorney's office has said it will appeal the case involving 17 charges.

Antimissile Missile Halt Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack called Monday for the full picture of a Defense Department decision not to order immediately parts of an antimissile missile system.

The Massachusetts Democrat spoke as a member of the House Space Committee, which devoted its session largely to critical questions about the decision by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, who is scheduled to appear before the group on March 2.

McCormack said he is afraid "the sad day" might come when Russia might be ahead of the United States not only in intercontinental ballistic missiles for offensive use, but also in defenses against any counterblows.

There were hints the committee might recommend giving the Army 700 million dollars estimated as needed to start production of some of the more complicated components of the Army's Nike-Zeus antimissile missile system.

Two of the Army's technical chiefs told the committee they recommended — and still believe —the government should lose no time in starting development of a production base for Nike-Zeuses in view of promising technical breakthroughs.

U.S. Steel Records Due For Subpoena In Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — The Journal-American said Monday that the Justice Department is preparing to subpoena the records of United States Steel Corp. in connection with an antitrust investigation.

An article by Leslie Gould, financial editor, said "a grand jury investigation, similar to that just launched against General Motors Corp., is to be made, with two main objectives.

"1. A regional divestment of U. S. Steel's mills where the company has a major share of the steel market.

"2. An end to the present system of pricing."

In response to an inquiry in Washington, the Justice Department noted it has been conducting a lengthy inquiry into the steel fabricating and reinforcement steel businesses on the West Coast, and that this matter will shortly go before a grand jury in San Francisco.

(The Justice Department indicated a number of steel companies are involved in this investigation, which stemmed from complaints received last year. The department declined to name the companies.)

The Journal-American said this is part of the Justice Department's new drive against bigness in business, "particularly where the enterprises are successful."

"The antitrust campaign is bigger than any ever attempted in the past, including the days of Theodore Roosevelt," Gould wrote.

Illegal Adoption Ring Is Probed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Authorities said Monday they are investigating an illegal baby adoption ring which centers on Maryland and does business in several cities on the East Coast.

Police have questioned four women here, particularly about six reportedly illegal adoptions. The most recent, said police, was an unlawful adoption in New York's Bronx last October.

Police said they picked up a male suspect late Monday. Capt. Frank J. Battaglia said police know the identities of principals in the ring and other arrests are expected soon.

There have been earlier reports of an illegal adoption racket on the East Coast.

Authorities here have sent the name of at least one attorney to New York for investigation. Other alleged illegal adoptions may have involved persons in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Investigators said that although six cases have been pretty well pinned down, the number of black market babies passed along by the ring may number up to 100.

Store Robbed Twice In Less Than Week

BALTIMORE (AP)— Even burglars like to hold onto a good thing.

They got $8,509 in cash from the Pressman Brothers store in Baltimore. Just last Thursday, burglars took $1,606 in merchandise at the same place.

Police did not find any signs of forced entry. It was theorized the burglars hid in the store at closing time.

The money, most of it in receipts from money orders, was taken from a safe. Police said the safe apparently was left unlocked.

Fire Damages Store

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)— Fire caused an estimated $30,000 damage to a Peoples Drug Store in the Four Corners shopping center here Sunday night.

Nationalist Gunboat Sunk, China Reds Say

TOKYO (AP)—Red China said Monday its gunboats sank a Nationalist gunboat off Haitan (Pingtan) Island a week ago and that 11 Nationalist special agents died as a result.

Broadcasts by radio Peiping in English and Chinese reported the 11 were killed—witouth specifying whether by gunfire or drowning—and that 12 other men were captured.

In Taipei Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, chief spokesman of the Nationalist Defense Ministry, said he had no knowledge of such an incident.

First American Spaceman Will Just Orbit Earth

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An expert says America's first spaceman "will just orbit the earth when we are certain we can get him back."

The space flier won't be aimed at the moon on the first trips, said Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautical and Space Agency at Washington.

Glennan was one of many scientific and military leaders in San Antonio Monday for observance of the 10th anniversary of the founding of the School of Aviation Medicine.

A dozen youths will be chosen as finalists from the 110 selected recently for testing as potential space men. The final dozen will go through intensive training that Glennan said may last many months, perhaps over a year.

Motorist's Record Is Cleared Again

BALTIMORE (AP)—Harold V. Holden's record was cleared again Monday. An 18th traffic charge against him was dismissed.

Magistrate Robert Watts dismissed a charge of operating on a suspended license after Holden's attorney argued Holden never received notice of the suspension.

Previously Chief Magistrate Thomas Dempsey had dismissed 17 traffic counts brought by police against the 36-year-old Negro mechanic.

There was testimony that a notice of license suspension had been left at Holden's home and that a certified letter was waiting for him at the Post Office. But there was no record of the letter having been picked up.

Atty. Stanley Scherr, former chief traffic court magistrate, said that when his client received a summons Jan. 9 Holden went to the Department of Motor Vehicles to renew his statement of financial responsibility and have his license renewed.

The state's attorney's office has said it will appeal the case involving 17 charges.

City Sets Up Parking Plan For Cleaning

An alternate parking plan in an effort to speed up street cleaning operations will be put into operation soon in the upper North Mechanic and North Centre streets area.

The plan was presented to the Mayor and Council yesterday in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech by Andrew Heller, street superintendent, with the support of Street Commissioner John J. Long.

As originally presented, Heller urged the alternate plan allow cars to park on one side of the streets for one week and on the other side of the street the next. This would allow access by the sweeper on alternate weeks and save wear-and-tear on the center of the street surface, Heller said.

But City Attorney William R. Carscaden said it appeared to be the opinion of council that an "odd-even day" parking plan was more favorable than the parking by the week plan. Under the day idea which has been discussed previously, cars would park on one side of the street on odd-numbered days and on the other side on even-numbered days.

Heller also showed a model of a sign which he proposed for use. A decision on the signs and method to be used will be forthcoming after Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming's recommendations have been received.

It was the consensus of that when the alternate parking plan is placed in effect a week or ten days' "educational" period should be allowed so the public can become acquainted with the new system. After that period, violators will be subject to a $5 fine as provided in the city's parking ordinance.

The program may vary for other streets if adopted on a city-wide basis, it was pointed out. For example, the alternate parking might affect some streets in the morning hours only.

In presenting the plan to council, Heller said the upper ends of the two streets were the most difficult to clean since cars are parked on both sides 24 hours a day.

Razing To Begin

Demolition of the houses to prepare the site for Cumberland's third low-rent housing project on West Oldtown Road will start this week.

Treated at Memorial Hospital for dog bites were Frederick Jackson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jackson, Winifred Road and Robert Harden, nine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harden, 401 Springdale Street.

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital said Clyde Gill Jr., 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gill, 431 Baltimore Avenue, and at least two other boys were treated for dog bites Saturday afternoon.

Nuclear Station Is Projected In Bedford County

Penn Electric Plans Reactor

BEDFORD, Pa. — Construction of a nuclear station in Bedford County will start in April, according to Louis H. Roddis Jr., president of the Pennsylvania Electric Company.

The plant will be built along the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River, Roddis explained, and will be hooked on to the Saxton plant of the Penn Electric firm. The actual site of the reactor plant is about three-quarters of a mile downstream from Saxton.

Roddis said the reactor will help generate steam at the Saxton plant and should provide a lift for the economy of the area. Explaining that the nuclear reactor plant will offer no threat to Central Pennsylvania's coal industry, Roddis said the primary product of the new plant will be 'knowledge.'

He added that such a plant, producing electric power through nuclear fission, would not be economical in view of low coal prices in the area.

Supplement To Coal

Roddis continued that while nuclear energy has a vast potential as a new source of energy, its competition with coal will be as a supplement, rather than as a displacement.

Cost of the atomic plant project has been set at $12,000,000, and it is estimated that it will take 30 months to construct. It was explained that the plant is intended as a research and experimental unit for five years.

'What will happen then nobody knows,' Roddis stated.

Site of the plant was selected for safety reasons, and because it will keep in operation some of the facilities at the Saxton plant which would otherwise have to be closed down.

The Saxton plant, Roddis said, is "nearing the end of its useful life, but will take a new lease on life due to its location near the experimental nuclear reactor."

No Radioactive Waste

Heat produced in the nuclear reactor will be used to drive one of the three generators at the Saxton plant. Existing boilers will be remodeled so that heat from them, as well as from the reactor, can be used as desired. Roddis explained that there is no radioactive waste from such a plant as will be built near Saxton, and described the installation as 'safe as a coal burning plant.'

Roddis, former deputy director of Realtor Development for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said his company's primary goals are to supply the best possible electric service and to stimulate the economic growth of the area it serves. He claims to foresee that coal and the atom will become Pennsylvania's 'Prosperity Twins.'

Nuclear Power Costly

In predicting a bright future for the coal industry, Roddis pointed out that expected demands for electricity will increase about 150 per cent in the next 15 years, and that it will require at least 300 million tons of coal to generate this power. That amount of coal is nearly 125 per cent more than is being used at present.

The Penn Electric president branded as a serious misconception the thought that nuclear power is cheap power. He pointed out that it cost more to build a nuclear power plant than a conventional one, and that electricity produced by fission is considerably more expensive than that from steam or hydro plants. 'It is going to be a long time before uranium can compete economically with coal', Roddis said.

The power firm is planning to launch an intensive campaign to stimulate the sale of coal in the form of electricity under a 'Coal B Wire' promotion, Roddis said, explaining that the project has the support of the United Mine Workers Union.

The nuclear reactor plant will produce an estimated 5,000 kilowatts of power. The reactor will be engineered and constructed by Gilbert Associates of Reading, Pa., under a sub-contract with Westinghouse Electric Corporation. The reactor itself and associated parts will be supplied by Westinghouse, Roddis said.

FRANCIS MULLIGAN

Mulligan Named Heart Chairman In Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Francis Mulligan, local businessman, has been named as general chairman of the Mt. Savage area Heart Fund campaign for the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, according to George R. Hughes Jr., general chairman for the fund drive.

Mr. Hughes said this will be the third consecutive year Mr. Mulligan has served as chairman for the Mt. Savage area.

Mr. Mulligan is a member of Mt. Savage Council, Knights of Columbus; Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree; Maryland Independent Grocers Association and a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. He also was a former secretary-treasurer of the Mt. Savage Water Department and is currently serving as recording secretary for the water unit.

The chairman said plans are underway for Heart Sunday which will be in charge of Mrs. Helen Knepp. She is a member of Rebecca Arnold Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star; Mt. Savage PTA and St. George's Episcopal Church.

Committee OKs Referendum On Drink Measure

House Schedules Hearing Thursday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The House Temperance Committee, as expected, gave speedy approval Monday to proposed constitutional amendments that would allow West Virginia voters to choose between liquor-by-the-drink and prohibition.

Committee Chairman C. Donald Robertson (D-Harrison) also announced that he will ask the House to sit as a committee of the whole Wednesday afternoon for a public hearing on the controversial measures.

The two proposed amendments, introduced last week by "wet" leader J. E. Watson (D - Marion), would give the voter a choice between:

—Legalized over-the-bar sale of liquor, in addition to the continuation of state-operated package stores. Watson proposed that the number of outlets be limited to 3,000 but the provision was removed by the committee.

—A return to prohibition as it existed in West Virginia before 1913, including abolition of state stores. It was assumed that sale of 3.2 beer would not necessarily be affected since it is defined by state law as "non-intoxicating."

Watson said he introduced both of the contradictory amendments to answer previous objection of dry leaders that liquor-by-the-drink advocates refused to give the voters a chance to outlaw liquor completely.

He also said that if, as could happen, a majority of voters in 1960 should favor both amendments, the State Supreme Court would probably declare both invalid and leave the present system unchanged.

It was reported that the 25-member Temperance Committee agreed unanimously to recommend adoption of the prohibition proposal, while four or five said "no" on the voice vote on the liquor-by-the-drink proposal.

Before the proposals could be placed on the general election ballot in 1960, they would have to be approved by two-thirds of the membership of the House and Senate.

The issue has been a perennial one in recent years but the House of Delegates has not come close to giving two-thirds approval to liquor-by-the-drink proposal.

Watson assumed nominal leadership of "wet" forces in the House this year, taking over from Chester R. Hubbard of Wheeling who was defeated last November in a try for the State Senate.

Methodists Again Hit Liquor Bill

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — A West Virginia Methodist Conference temperance leader described Monday as "completely unacceptable" an alternate liquor proposition placed before the 54th Legislature last week.

The statement was made by the Rev. Joseph Casey, chairman of the Methodist temperance section, who said two resolutions introduced represented "transparent effort" by liquor advocates to "force through their will while appearing to offer a reasonable choice to the people."

The proposed resolutions would offer voters a choice of liquor-by-the-drink or prohibition for the Mountain State.

"In reality, the choice offered in this proposal is not reasonable at all," Casey said. "Even if we wanted to confront the people with a flat choice between full prohibition and wide open liquor-by-the-drink, this proposal would not accomplish the purpose."

Casey said the "so - called prohibition amendment" would still allow beer joints to continue operating."

"Some people who do not favor complete prohibition, on the one hand, or wide open license on the other, would like to vote for somewhat greater restrictions on the sale of beer. Such people's sentiments should not be ignored."

Need Teachers At Reformatory For W.Va. Boys

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Lack of teachers is described by West Virginia boys reformatory Supt. Richard L. Young as the "most serious" problem facing the institution.

In a report prepared for the State Crime and Delinquency Council, Young pointed out that a vocational arts building built over 15 years ago is not being utilized to its fullest extent for lack of instructors.

Equipment for teaching printing, plumbing, carpentry and other trades stands idle because there are no vocational instructors, he said.

Young said that since he took over the Pruntytown institution last September, the number of inmates has been reduced from 290 to 239 by strict observance of parole and discharge policies.

He said several other changes had been made to improve conditions but that Board of Public Works completely ignored a request of $500,000 to relieve certain other "miserable" conditions.

Young said he would make copies of the report available to the Legislature, of which he was a member for six years.

Public Record Bill Is Before W.Va. Delegates

Newsmen Support Its Enactment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Public inspection of all state, county and municipal records would be authorized under a bill reported to the floor Monday by the House Judiciary Committee.

On two other occasions, the committee had voted to postpone consideration indefinitely on the bills, a motion that usually has the effect of killing a bill.

However, Monday's amended version was sent to the floor without recommendation. The committee changed the bill to remove a section providing for a fine of up to $100 and a jail term of up to 90 days for violations of the provisions.

The bill was sponsored by the Charleston -Huntington chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society. It was introduced in the House by Speaker Harry Pauley.

The measure provides "that all state, county and municipal records shall be opened to inspection by any citizen of this state under such rules and regulations as the persons having charge or custody of such records may prescribe and it shall be unlawful for the person having charge or custody to refuse such inspection to any citizen."

Records declared to be secret by the Legislature or by a court of record are the only exceptions provided in the bill. Provisions are also made for the photographing of such records under regulations made by the cusotdian.

Consideration of the bill had been postponed indefinitely shortly after it was referred to the committee.

It was reconsidered during a hearing last week at which a group of newspapermen appeared in favor of the measure. Committee members voted against the bill a second time immediately after the hearing but reversed themselves at Monday's meeting.

House Changes Minimum Wage Bill Provisions

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)— The House made some changes Monday in a proposed minimum wage law for West Virginia, then held the bill over on amendment stage for another day.

A Labor and Industry Committee amendment adopted by the House trimmed the proposed minimum hourly wage in the bill from $1 down to 75 cents.

The measure would apply with certain exceptions to workers not covered by the federal minimum wage law.

The federal law, which sets a $1 hourly minimum, affects employers who do a majority of their business in interstate commerce.

As amended Monday, the bill would exempt establishments with not more than three full-time employes from the minimum wage requirement.

The House was in session an hour and 20 minutes and the Senate an hour and five minutes before both adjourned until 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Nuclear Station Is Projected In Bedford County

Penn Electric Plans Reactor

BEDFORD, Pa. — Construction of a nuclear station in Bedford County will start in April, according to Louis H. Roddis Jr., president of the Pennsylvania Electric Company.

The plant will be built along the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River, Roddis explained, and will be hooked on to the Saxton plant of the Penn Electric firm. The actual site of the reactor plant is about three-quarters of a mile downstream from Saxton.

Roddis said the reactor will help generate steam at the Saxton plant and should provide a lift for the economy of the area. Explaining that the nuclear reactor plant will offer no threat to Central Pennsylvania's coal industry, Roddis said the primary product of the new plant will be 'knowledge.'

He added that such a plant, producing electric power through nuclear fission, would not be economical in view of low coal prices in the area.

Supplement To Coal

Roddis continued that while nuclear energy has a vast potential as a new source of energy, its competition with coal will be as a supplement, rather than as a displacement.

Cost of the atomic plant project has been set at $12,000,000, and it is estimated that it will take 30 months to construct. It was explained that the plant is intended as a research and experimental unit for five years.

'What will happen then nobody knows,' Roddis stated.

Site of the plant was selected for safety reasons, and because it will keep in operation some of the facilities at the Saxton plant which would otherwise have to be closed down.

The Saxton plant, Roddis said, is "nearing the end of its useful life, but will take a new lease on life due to its location near the experimental nuclear reactor."

No Radioactive Waste

Heat produced in the nuclear reactor will be used to drive one of the three generators at the Saxton plant. Existing boilers will be remodeled so that heat from them, as well as from the reactor, can be used as desired. Roddis explained that there is no radioactive waste from such a plant as will be built near Saxton, and described the installation as 'safe as a coal burning plant.'

Roddis, former deputy director of Realtor Development for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said his company's primary goals are to supply the best possible electric service and to stimulate the economic growth of the area it serves. He claims to foresee that coal and the atom will become Pennsylvania's 'Prosperity Twins.'

Nuclear Power Costly

In predicting a bright future for the coal industry, Roddis pointed out that expected demands for electricity will increase about 150 per cent in the next 15 years, and that it will require at least 300 million tons of coal to generate this power. That amount of coal is nearly 125 per cent more than is being used at present.

The Penn Electric president branded as a serious misconception the thought that nuclear power is cheap power. He pointed out that it cost more to build a nuclear power plant than a conventional one, and that electricity produced by fission is considerably more expensive than that from steam or hydro plants. 'It is going to be a long time before uranium can compete economically with coal', Roddis said.

The power firm is planning to launch an intensive campaign to stimulate the sale of coal in the form of electricity under a 'Coal B Wire' promotion, Roddis said, explaining that the project has the support of the United Mine Workers Union.

The nuclear reactor plant will produce an estimated 5,000 kilowatts of power. The reactor will be engineered and constructed by Gilbert Associates of Reading, Pa., under a sub-contract with Westinghouse Electric Corporation. The reactor itself and associated parts will be supplied by Westinghouse, Roddis said.

Woman's Club Cancels Meeting

KEYSER—The February meeting of the Keyser Woman's Club which was to have featured Miss Mary Katherine Barnes, W. Va. state president, has been cancelled due to travel conditions and conflicting programs scheduled for the same evening, according to Mrs. Earl Hess, president of the local club.

Public Record Bill Is Before W.Va. Delegates

Newsmen Support Its Enactment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Public inspection of all state, county and municipal records would be authorized under a bill reported to the floor Monday by the House Judiciary Committee.

On two other occasions, the committee had voted to postpone consideration indefinitely on the bills, a motion that usually has the effect of killing a bill.

However, Monday's amended version was sent to the floor without recommendation. The committee changed the bill to remove a section providing for a fine of up to $100 and a jail term of up to 90 days for violations of the provisions.

The bill was sponsored by the Charleston-Huntington chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society. It was introduced in the House by Speaker Harry Pauley.

The measure provides "that all state, county and municipal records shall be opened to inspection by any citizen of this state under such rules and regulations as the persons having charge or custody of such records may prescribe and it shall be unlawful for the person having charge or custody to refuse such inspection to any citizen."

Records declared to be secret by the Legislature or by a court of record are the only exceptions provided in the bill. Provisions are also made for the photographing of such records under regulations made by the cusotdian.

Consideration of the bill had been postponed indefinitely shortly after it was referred to the committee.

It was reconsidered during a hearing last week at which a group of newspapermen appeared in favor of the measure. Committee members voted against the bill a second time immediately after the hearing but reversed themselves at Monday's meeting.

House Changes Minimum Wage Bill Provisions

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The House made some changes Monday in a proposed minimum wage law for West Virginia, then held the bill over on amendment stage for another day.

A Labor and Industry Committee amendment adopted by the House trimmed the proposed minimum hourly wage in the bill from $1 down to 75 cents.

The measure would apply with certain exceptions to workers not covered by the federal minimum wage law.

The federal law, which sets a $1 hourly minimum, affects employers who do a majority of their business in interstate commerce.

As amended Monday, the bill would exempt establishments with not more than three full-time employes from the minimum wage requirement.

The House was in session an hour and 20 minutes and the Senate an hour and five minutes before both adjourned until 2 p. m. Tuesday.

SRC To Give City Report On Values Of Properties Affected By Thruway

The State Roads Commission told the Mayor and Council yesterday it will take six to eight weeks to compile information on the value of properties to be affected by the Cumberland Thruway.

The reply from Henry F. Frederick, district right-of-way engineer, was made to a letter from Mayor J. Edwin Keech. The information had also been requested from council by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Frederick said before the figures could be compiled, an extensive investigation would be necessary to determine actual properties to be affected.

He said most of the plans for this project are still in the tentative stage and it will be necessary for the SRC to get from consultant engineers their most up-to-date plans.

Frederick said he had discussed the situation with City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and that Nuzum agreed to supply subdivision plats through areas affected by the project. After these are received, he said, they would be forwarded to consultant engineers with the request they superimpose limits of the Thruway on the plats. Frederick said upon receipt of this plan, he would refer to records in the tax assessor's office and assemble the information requested.

Nuzum told council yesterday that subdivision plats had been forwarded to the SRC last Friday.

A copy of the SRC letter will be sent to the Chamber of Commerce, council decided.

Several month-end reports were submitted to council yesterday.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said there were 1,025 arrests last month and fines amounting to $2,732. The Fire Department answered 38 calls and damage was minor.

Tax Collector George E. Davis listed the following collections for the month: General, $84,507.04 including $21,268.15 for sewage treatment fees; general improvement bonds, $3,616; 1931 sewer bonds, $348; and water rents, $47,959.27 for a total of $136,427.64.

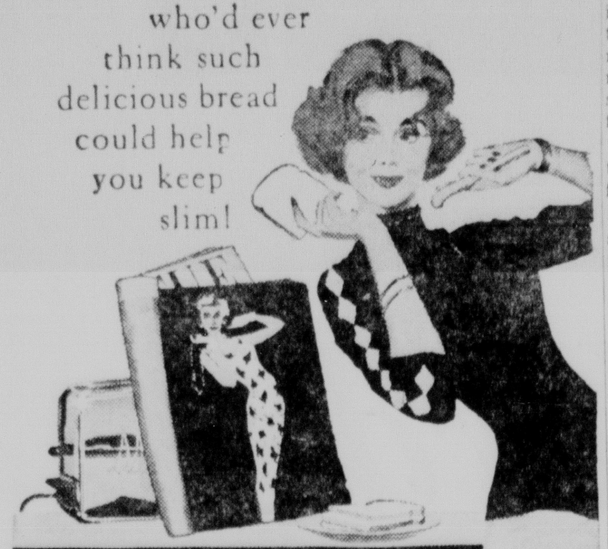

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder listed the following balances as of February 1 in a report of receipts and disbursements: General, $256,120.32; water operative, $95,183.89; general improvement bonds, $89,094.45; and sewer bonds of 1931, $1,747.63.

No Surprises From Moscow

The Soviet reaction to U. S. publication of evidence that Russian fighter pilots intentionally shot down an unarmed American transport plane over Armenia last September is hardly surprising.

"Forgeries! A sensational farce!" cried the Russians.

It will be remembered that the United States has admitted that the airplane probably was flying several miles to the wrong side of the Armenian border when it crashed with 17 men aboard. It will be recalled, too, that the Kremlin has steadfastly denied any knowledge of the incident except that an American plane crashed and that six bodies were found and returned to U. S. authorities. Considering these repeated denials, what else could the Russians do but claim that the tape-recorded voices of the Soviet pilots had been faked?

Supposing that the airplane was lured across the border by Soviet radio signals and was then shot down, and supposing further that there were 11 U. S. airmen still embarrassingly alive after the crash, or that 11 bodies were found to have awkward bullet wounds—what then? Obviously the fliers, if still alive, could not be released to tell their stories. Nor could bullet-riddled bodies very well be pawned off as the victims of an airplane crash. Suppositious as this may be, it gives rise to the speculation that the plane may have been shot down without proper authorization, and that the customary military cover-up then began.

But ten days elapsed between the plane's last flight and the Soviet announcement that it had crashed. Hence it is reasonable to conclude either that the Kremlin has decided to complete the cover-up of a dangerous blunder, or that it has embarked upon a policy of discouraging flights near Soviet borders by shooting down anything not made in the U.S.S.R. that comes along.

But what of the tape recording itself? Our State Department refuses to say where we got it. Why so, unless it came from some unusual, cloak-and-dagger source that must be protected? It seems far more likely that the tape was obtained by radio monitoring from Turkey, a procedure that is no secret. Now that the authenticity of the recording has been questioned, it seems that we should tell where and how it was obtained. But perhaps the State Department prefers to hold this as a trump card until after all the Russian denials are in.

Secretary Of Labor Mitchell Stands Pat For Ike's Civil Rights Measure

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Some important backstage by-play took place between the White House and the Senate just before President Eisenhower's civil rights bill was sent to Congress. It put Secretary of Labor Mitchell in the position of being the most vigorous and consistent civil rights champion in the Eisenhower administration.

About 12 hours before Eisenhower sent his civil rights bill to Capitol Hill, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the hard-working Democratic leader, phoned Bryce Harlow, Ike's administrative assistant, to advise strongly against including the Anti-Discrimination Employment Commission in the new civil rights proposals.

Johnson sincerely believes that a civil rights bill should be passed and has introduced one of his own, milder than the administration's proposal. But he argued that Ike's proposed Anti-Discrimination Employment Commission would be challenged by southern Senators as an FEPC and probably provoke a filibuster.

Johnson pointed to the Government Contracts Commission headed by Vice President Nixon which already rules on racial and religious discrimination. He said it was doing a good job, had handled more complaints last year than in the four previous years, and suggested that the administration leave well enough alone.

"If it's money you want," he told Harlow, "I'll get you the money but don't put this in the legislation."

Harlow immediately called Gen. Jerry Persons, who has replaced Sherman Adams as Ike's right hand man.

"This is Jim Mitchell's baby," said Persons. "I'll talk to him."

Persons, who comes from Alabama, has been opposed to a strong civil rights stand, but felt that Mitchell should have the last word on Johnson's proposal. He informed the Secretary of Labor of Johnson's rather tempting offer. Johnson is a man who delivers and Mitchell knew that money for the present Government Contracts Commission would be forthcoming.

"Heck no," said Mitchell. "The Anti-Discrimination Employment Commission has got to stay in."

It stayed in. Next day Johnson, though his advice was ignored, said he would do his best to pass an adequate civil rights bill.

Room With A View

Unnoticed in the flutter of bills that hits every new Congress like a ticker-tape reception is one that would not only safeguard the view outside Mississippi Congressman Frank Smith's window but incidentally protect his property from commercial encroachment.

These personal benefits aren't mentioned, of course, in the bill he introduced authorizing the Park Service to purchase 235 acres from the Smoot and Gravel Company.

The 235-acre plot in question happens to lie between the Congressman's home and Mt. Vernon Highway on Washington's outskirts.

Smith took a sudden interest in preserving the scenery along Mt. Vernon Highway when radio station WPIK tried to rent ground from Smoot Sand and Gravel to erect a radio tower. There was also talk of constructing an apartment house on the 235 acres.

The Mississippi Congressman, an archfoe of all forms of integration, didn't want a radio tower for a neighbor. So he telephoned the Park Service and asked what could be done to keep such unsightly objects from marring the beauty of Mt. Vernon Highway.

The park people said they would be happy to acquire the 235 acres in the interest of preserving the scenery along the approaches to George Washington's ancestral home.

"I introduced the bill," said Congressman Smith, when queried, "in the interest of my neighbors and in my own interest."

Morse Unanimously Elected

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, the independent gadfly of the Senate, has just won a unanimous election. He even got big business to vote for him and he has been chuckling about it ever since.

No member of the Senate is more controversial than Morse. He probably would feel uneasy if his colleagues in the Senate ever supported him unanimously for anything.

But Morse has a hobby. He breeds red Devon cattle, and on this subject a lot of judges around the country have been quite unanimous. They have awarded him ribbons from Maryland to Louisiana, to the west coast.

The other day the American Devon Cattle Club, Inc. held an election and, believe it or not, elected Morse president without a dissenting vote.

To win unanimously, Morse had to have the support of S. Hallock DuPont of Wilmington, Del.; "Pete" Bostwick, the great polo player now of Bluffton, S. C.; Standish Bradford, the Massachusetts blueblood; and Leo Parker, multimillionaire of Smithdale, Miss. Though not normally Morse supporters, when it comes to breeding Devon cattle they were "brothers under the skin."

"Incidentally," says Morse, "the only election I ever won unanimously besides this one was when I was elected president of the Alice Deal Junior High Parent-Teachers Association."

Personal And Impersonal

That $18,600 for Cadillacs to accommodate both ex-GOP leader Joe Martin and new GOP leader Charley Halleck plus $26,400 for Joe's special staff didn't go down well in Joe's home area — thrifty New England. Some people remembered that when Joe defeated Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Sam had to give up his car, Congressmen Walter of Pennsylvania and Boykin of Alabama passed the hat and raised money for a Cadillac for ex-Speaker Rayburn. They didn't charge the Cadillac to the taxpayers. . . . When Senator Lausche of Ohio, perturbed ove Sen. Steve Young's refusal to be escorted to the Senate swearing-in ceremony by Lausche, asked whether people in Ohio were sore at him, Congressman Vanik replied: "No, only the Democrats."

Air Alert Needed To Cope With Missile Threat

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been asking our allies to agree to meet any Soviet challenge at Berlin without temporizing, without equivocation and head-on. Under the Dulles program, for instance, a challenge of the Western allies' right to use the land-routes to Berlin is to be answered by sending an armed convoy.

This program in fact demands the will to fight a big war — an H-bomb war — for the defense of Berlin. Neither a single tank column, nor all the Western divisions in NATO, can possibly open a road to Berlin against the opposition of the massive Soviet armies in East Germany. Hence humiliating retreat or a big war will be the only way out, if a convoy is sent and is halted.

The thesis of Secretary Dulles and his strong supporters, the American Joint Chiefs of Staff, is that the Kremlin will not risk a big war for Berlin. Therefore, the Dulles-Pentagon thesis continues, the Kremlin will not press its Berlin claims to the utmost, if we show that we prefer to run this risk rather than to surrender.

At least until Secretary Dulles's visit to London, the British government was unwilling to accept the Dulles-Pentagon thesis. There was a strong impulse in London to base the Western plans for Berlin on dodging a direct challenge, by resort to an air lift. The American pressure for acceptance of the Dulles-Pentagon thesis was meanwhile met by a British counter-demand, that the whole problem be "staffed out" in careful detail.

A leading planner from the British War Office staff was actually sent to Washington, to conduct preliminary staff talks with the planners attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This high-ranking officer kicked his heels here for a week, and then went home after accomplishing nothing. One therefore suspects that the proclaimed accord between Secretary Dulles and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan took the form of agreement by Dulles to open staff talks after all, and a statement by Macmillan that the British might accept the Dulles-Pentagon thesis, after satisfactory staff talks.

If this suspicion is correct, the British may also reject the Dulles-Pentagon thesis at the end of the "staffing out" process. But at least one point is already pretty clear. Secretary Dulles Dulles will hardly secure final allied agreement for his "contingent" plan for Berlin, while the Pentagon carries on business as usual.

In this respect at least, there is no logical answer to the British doubts about the Dulles approach to the Berlin problem. Business-as-usual at the Pentagon which is plainly inconsistent with the whole Dulles approach, depends on convincing the Kremlin that the West is in deadly earnest, and will fight a big war, if need be.

In these circumstances, there are certain practical measures that plainly need to be taken without much further delay. If an armed convoy is planned, some reinforcement of the divisions in Germany is surely essential — if only to prove that the plan is serious. For the same purpose, rather special preparations and training exercises are needed, to show that the West's engineering troops can surmount any purely physical obstacles to the convoy, such as broken bridges.

Above all, however, adoption of the Dulles approach imperatively demands bringing the Strategic Air Command to a state of full readiness. At present, despite the widespread impression to the contrary, SAC maintains no air alert. Experiments with an air alert were made in the autumn. It was found to be practical to keep a high proportion of SAC's planes always in the air and always ready to attack their targets. But this way of keeping a substantial striking force beyond reach of enemy attack was also found to be costly. Hence a 15-minute ground alert plan was chosen.

As the SAC Commander, Gen. Thomas Power very clearly pointed out, the 15-minute ground alert offers no protection at all against a Soviet missile-strike. The air-missile warning system is not yet complete, and it will not be completed for some time to come. Thus the warning time for a missile-strike will be zero. With zero warning time, SAC's planes on the ground will be destroyed by any successful missile-strike whether there was a 15-minute alert or no alert at all.

In truth, if SAC is to bear the main burden of bridging the missile gap, a permanent air alert is necessary in any case, quite without regard to the threat at Berlin. It is all the more urgently necessary, if the American official policy is to risk a big war, if need be, at a time that is no longer very distant.

These Days

The Crisis

When Pope John XXIII announced the calling of an Ecumenical Council, a world-wide council of Christendom, it betokened a crisis in the affairs of man. Granted that Christianity faces an enormous loss of adherents in the countries which have been forced to accept Marxian atheism; granted that churches and monasteries, synagogues and yeshivas have been destroyed; granted that even in Christian countries humanism is replacing Godism (to coin a poor phrase), even in some churches—is all this the reason for calling such a council?

The crisis of our area is moral. Even in the countries which are not dominated by Marxism social and economic conditions prevail which are destructive of morality. The word, the promise, the signature—whatever it is by which men enter upon contractual relations—no longer seem to have any meaning. Therefore the marriage sacrament has become a matter of a fee paid for a license with a mumbo-jumbo of spoken words to be followed by divorces, separations and annulments so numerous that they become a serious problem to the entire community because of the increase in juvenile delinquency and young criminals.

In the Nineteenth Century and the first decade of the 20th Century, the world was moving toward peace and it was hoped that a tribunal would be created to which nations could come with their grievances and that in such a tribunal the grievances would be resolved justly and without war. Nevertheless, thus far, the 20th Century has been one of the bloodiest in human history. It is the first century during which genocide has been practiced and continues to be practiced on the widest scale. The cultures of peoples are being wiped out, even among the formerly most civilized peoples in Europe.

There was some protest when Hitler initiated this process of remaking man from a being close to the angels to a creature of the devil, but today when Soviet Russia destroys millions of human beings spiritually as well as physically, there is not only small protest but little excitement. The world has become accustomed to brutality which now hardly makes headlines in newspapers.

The crisis of our age, to use Professor Sorokin's phrase, is not only in the separatism among Christian churches, which has tended to stimulate among some people a questioning of all dogma, but in the demoralization of all peoples, of all religions and among those who have no religion. A clarion call must be issued to mankind to remind it that God's law will prevail and that those who break it do so at the peril of the entire human race. The success of Soviet Russia thus far has been a response to the challenge of a religious zeal for the cause of Marxism, a zeal which no longer appears in our civilization for anything.

The immoraltity of our times is most clearly articulated not in the over-emphasis on sex, or in the general tendency of small sects of intellectuals to pervert the truth to suit their theories, but in the disregard of brutality, of deceit, of falsehood. The passion for protest has disappeared even in those countries that call themselves democratic. Citizens conform to every abuse and indecency not because they believe that conforming is correct, like wearing a black tie to a formal dinner, but rather because it is a way to stand in right with the powers that be and maybe by such means to get slightly ahead.

There is much to do to straighten out this human race during this crisis. Pope John's council may be the means; there may have to be several councils, called under the guidance of God's law to bring up back to a life that will not move from brutality to excess and from excess to brutality, but will cleave to eternal and tested truth.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

The population "explosion," that has been so dramatically emphasized in the United States since World War II in the school and housing shortages, actually is a worldwide phenomenon.

The figures are startling. At present there are less than three billion people in the world but this represents a doubling of the world population in the last 50 years.

Before the end of this century, according to conservative estimates worked up by the U.N., the population will have more than doubled again, to a total in excess of six billion. The experts haven't looked beyond this, but their own figures show that population increases can be expected at the same accelerated rate.

The population of the more backward countries of the world in Asia and Africa is multiplying much faster than that of the advanced countries. This is due to two primary facts. One, advances in medicine and the increased access these backward peoples have to medical aid. Two, to the fact that these people are emerging into a more highly organized society and can therefore produce more food and other necessities, enabling them to support larger families.

General Motors Case

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — In drafting a grand jury to develop its long-pending anti-trust case against General Motors, the Justice Department is itself attempting to get around the very same law.

The Justice Department, as exclusively revealed by this column, is out to break up General Motors. Force it to get rid of at least one of its motor car divisions and its financing affiliate.

If there is an anti-trust case, it is a civil action. The Anti-Trust Division has been attempting for years — particularly the last three — to develop such a case.

Under the present Anti-Trust laws, the Justice Department in civil cases has no power to subpoena a corporation's records. Attorney General Rogers, needled by Victor Hansen, head of the Anti-Trust Division, is asking the present Congress to change this.

With the important Presidential elections next year, the politically minded Anti-Trust lawyers apparently feel they cannot wait for that authorization. So they are getting around the restrictions in the General Motors case by using a grand jury, which has power to subpoena a corporation's records.

To make it "legal" they say the investigation is criminal, but, to quote a morning paper:

"A grand jury customarily is impaneled only when a criminal indictment is to be sought but in the G.M. case a grand jury would enable the government to reach evidence that otherwise it could not readily obtain."

Other accounts from Washington stated "the outcome of the investigations could be criminal anti-trust indictments, civil anti-trust suits, or both — or a finding there are insufficient grounds either to prosecute or sue."

The use of a grand jury to develop evidence for a civil anti-trust is not new. It has been tried before. Such evidence is supposed to be secret, but the left hand knows what the right is doing. That is so in Anti-trust, which is figuratively as well as literally the "left" hand of the Justice Department.

The big mystery in General Motors also in the rest of the Big Three as well as in other lines, is the unit profit. How much is made on each particular car in the line?

This is something Walter Reuther has been trying with no success to discover. So, this move by Anti-Trust could be helpful to him. He has more than an academic interest in the activities of the Anti-Trust lawyers.

The real monopoly is that of labor. That is where the Justice Department should be looking. The labor monopoly is putting up the cost of living, not the successful business enterprises.

The General Motors records called for by the Anti-Trust will fill several vans. The task of wading through them will be monumental — not to mention expensive.

A jury of ordinary laymen will have a tough time of it. General Motors has one of the finest management organizations in private business, but not even Frederic G. Donner, board chairman and chief executive, can answer all questions as to its organization and business. And he is a financial man.

What is needed is a jury of accountants. Even more important a jury of American business men and workers who believe in the American system of private enterprise. A system that has won two world wars and brought the American public the highest living standards ever achieved anywhere at any time in the world.

The Anti-Trust lawyers believe bigness — particularly if successful—is a crime. That is General Motors' "crime." It has been successful.

One thing — the case will be a field day for the legal profession.

Where Nature Goofed On A Problem Of Design

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Nature goofed when she designed the network of hemorrhoidal veins near the anal opening. These structures are anatomically useless and as such are a potential source of pain and discomfort when inflammation leads to hemorrhoids.

These veins are located in an area where they are subjected to constant irritation and injury. Slight tears in the membrances of the lower rectum and anal region are followed by bacterial invasion and inflammation. The veins have thin walls and are susceptible to infection, swelling, and rupture. Clots often develop. The majority of such infections are so mild they are overlooked; slight rectal soreness is present for a day or two and complete healing occurs.

The external hemorrhoidal veins are near the opening of the anus and are covered with skin. They are extremely painful when acutely inflamed. Blood clots distend the vein to such an extent it protrudes to the outside. A bluish swelling the size of the little finger is noted. The nodule develops rapidly and is so tender that sitting becomes an ordeal. These lesions are most common in sedentary workers.

This type of hemorrhoidal discomfort goes away spontaneously but meanwhile temporary relief is obtained by applying an anesthetic ointment and sitting in a tub of hot water. The physician hastens healing by opening the distended hemorrhoid and allowing the clotted blood to escape. This is not a painful procedure and prevents many days of suffering.

The internal hemorrhoidal veins are in the lining of the anal canal. Soreness and discomfort occur when they become inflamed. Straining leads to a painful protrusion of the inflamed vein and now and then blood is noted. Here, too, local anesthetic ointments offer temporary relief. Shrinking agents have been advocated but are not always successful. Cold packs do as much good, followed in six to 10 hours by a series of hot sitz baths.

Cure is possible when the entire plexus of veins is removed. The injection treatment may be helpful when hemorrhoids are small but it has to be repeated at intervals to control the condition. This is a troublesome and time consuming process.

BREATHLESS FROM HIVES

K. J. writes: Can a person who gets severe attacks of urticaria of the throat choke to death?

REPLY

Yes, if swelling is so marked as to block off the air passageway. Should this tendency exist, the victim ought to take one of the antihistaminics, adrenalin, or an adrenal steroid when the symptoms come on. Occasionally, complete closure occurs and a heroic operation is done — with a penknife if necessary — in which the windpipe in the lower-neck is cut open to allow air to reach the lungs.

DEFECTIVE HEART VALVE

F. J. writes: Are leakage of the heart and valvular leakage the same thing?

REPLY

Yes. Both are lay terms for a condition in which the valves of the heart do not close tightly. As a result, blood leaks back into the chamber rather than going out into the general circulation.

POOR CIRCULATION

F. W. writes: Can hardening of the arteries disturb the circulation to the feet?

REPLY

Yes, but not until the blood flow is reduced by 70 per cent. We have a leaflet on poor arterial circulation to the extremities that may be obtained by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope with request.

NOISY NEIGHBORS

Mrs. J. writes: What would you suggest to overcome a nervous reaction to noisy neighbors overhead?

REPLY

If you cannot remedy the situation or adjust to it — move.

EKG RESULTS

H. T. writes: What heart conditions does a cardiogram not reveal?

REPLY

The electrocardiogram is a tracing of the electrical current through the heart. Abnormalities are noted only when these impulses are prolonged or deviated through changes in the conduction system or heart muscle. As a result, the EKG may be normal even though leakage of a valve or a congenital defect exists. In addition, it may be normal seconds before a fatal heart attack occurs. The reading of a person with a nervous or broken heart may be normal except for an increased rate.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A forlorn lass in London wrote the editor of an Advice-to-the-Lovelorn column, "I've been hopelessly in love for years with a peer of the realm, and follow him wherever he goes, but he won't even give me the time of day. Should I continue trying to make him date me?"

The editor gave her an emphatic reply. "Obviously," he noted, "you have missed the boat. Why hang around the peer?"

In a satire on a TV interview show, Jack Paar threw this query at Davy Crockett: "Davy, your life has inspired millions of youngsters the country over. Alone in the woods for weeks on end, you have successfully resisted wild animals, Indians, and the elements, armed only with your knife and rifle. Tell us, Davy, what is the secret of your success?"

Davy answered modestly, "Good writers."

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been asking our allies to agree to meet any Soviet challenge at Berlin without temporizing, without equivocation and head-on. Under the Dulles program, for instance, a challenge of the Western allies' right to use the land-routes to Berlin is to be answered by sending an armed convoy.

This program in fact demands the will to fight a big war — an H-bomb war — for the defense of Berlin. Neither a single tank column, nor all the Western divisions in NATO, can possibly open a road to Berlin against the opposition of the massive Soviet armies in East Germany. Hence humiliating retreat or a big war will be the only way out, if a convoy is sent and is halted.

The thesis of Secretary Dulles and his strong supporters, the American Joint Chiefs of Staff, is that the Kremlin will not risk a big war for Berlin. Therefore, the Dulles-Pentagon thesis continues, the Kremlin will not press its Berlin claims to the utmost, if we show that we prefer to run this risk rather than to surrender.

At least until Secretary Dulles's visit to London, the British government was unwilling to accept the Dulles-Pentagon thesis. There was a strong impulse in London to base the Western plans for Berlin on dodging a direct challenge, by resort to an air lift. The American pressure for acceptance of the Dulles-Pentagon thesis was meanwhile met by a British counter-demand, that the whole problem be "staffed out" in careful detail.

A leading planner from the British War Office staff was actually sent to Washington, to conduct preliminary staff talks with the planners attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This high-ranking officer kicked his heels here for a week, and then went home after accomplishing nothing. One therefore suspects that the proclaimed accord between Secretary Dulles and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan took the form of agreement by Dulles to open staff talks after all, and a statement by Macmillan that the British might accept the Dulles-Pentagon thesis, after satisfactory staff talks.

If this suspicion is correct, the British may also reject the Dulles-Pentagon thesis at the end of the "staffing out" process. But at least one point is already pretty clear. Secretary Dulles will hardly secure final allied agreement for his "contingent" plan for Berlin, while the Pentagon carries on business as usual.

In this respect at least, there is no logical answer to the British doubts about the Dulles approach to the Berlin problem. Business-as-usual at the Pentagon which is plainly inconsistent with the whole Dulles approach, depends on convincing the Kremlin that the West is in deadly earnest, and will fight a big war, if need be.

In these circumstances, there are certain practical measures that plainly need to be taken without much further delay. If an armed convoy is planned, some reinforcement of the divisions in Germany is surely essential — if only to prove that the plan is serious. For the same purpose, rather special preparations and training exercises are needed, to show that the West's engineering troops can surmount any purely physical obstacles to the convoy, such as broken bridges.

Above all, however, adoption of the Dulles approach imperatively demands bringing the Strategic Air Command to a state of full readiness. At present, despite the widespread impression to the contrary, SAC maintains no air alert. Experiments with an air alert were made in the autumn. It was found to be practical to keep a high proportion of SAC's planes always in the air and always ready to attack their targets. But this way of keeping a substantial striking force beyond reach of enemy attack was also found to be costly. Hence a 15-minute ground alert plan was chosen.

As the SAC Commander, Gen. Thomas Power very clearly pointed out, the 15-minute ground alert offers no protection at all against a Soviet missile-strike. The air-missile warning system is not yet complete, and it will not be completed for some time to come. Thus the warning time for a missile-strike will be zero. With zero warning time, SAC's planes on the ground will be destroyed by any successful missile-strike whether there was a 15-minute alert or no alert at all.

In truth, if SAC is to bear the main burden of bridging the missile gap, a permanent air alert is necessary in any case, quite without regard to the threat at Berlin. It is all the more urgently necessary, if the American official policy is to risk a big war, if need be, at a time that is no longer very distant.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

The population "explosion," that has been so dramatically emphasized in the United States since World War II in the school and housing shortages, actually is a worldwide phenomenon.

The figures are startling. At present there are less than three billion people in the world but this represents a doubling of the world population in the last 50 years.

Before the end of this century, according to conservative estimates worked up by the U.N., the population will have more than doubled again, to a total in excess of six billion. The experts haven't looked beyond this, but their own figures show that population increases can be expected at the same accelerated rate.

The population of the more backward countries of the world in Asia and Africa is multiplying much faster than that of the advanced countries. This is due to two primary facts. One, advances in medicine and the increased access these backward peoples have to medical aid. Two, to the fact that these people are emerging into a more highly organized society and can therefore produce more food and other necessities, enabling them to support larger families.

Secretary Of Labor Mitchell Stands Pat For Ike's Civil Rights Measure

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Some important backstage by-play took place between the White House and the Senate just before President Eisenhower's civil rights bill was sent to Congress. It put Secretary of Labor Mitchell in the position of being the most vigorous and consistent civil rights champion in the Eisenhower administration.

About 12 hours before Eisenhower sent his civil rights bill to Capitol Hill, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the hard-working Democratic leader, phoned Bryce Harlow, Ike's administrative assistant, to advise strongly against including the Anti-Discrimination Employment Commission in the new civil rights proposals.

Johnson sincerely believes that a civil rights bill should be passed and has introduced one of his own, milder than the administration's proposal. But he argued that Ike's proposed Anti-Discrimination Employment Commission would be challenged by southern Senators as an FEPC and probably provoke a filibuster.

Johnson pointed to the Government Contracts Commission headed by Vice President Nixon which already rules on racial and religious discrimination. He said it was doing a good job, had handled more complaints last year than in the four previous years, and suggested that the administration leave well enough alone.

"If it's money you want," he told Harlow, "I'll get you the money but don't put this in the legislation."

Harlow immediately called Gen. Jerry Persons, who has replaced Sherman Adams as Ike's right hand man.

"This is Jim Mitchell's baby," said Persons. "I'll talk to him."

Persons, who comes from Alabama, has been opposed to a strong civil rights stand, but felt that Mitchell should have the last word on Johnson's proposal. He informed the Secretary of Labor of Johnson's rather tempting offer. Johnson is a man who delivers and Mitchell knew that money for the present Government Contracts Commission would be forthcoming.

"Heck no," said Mitchell. "The Anti-Discrimination Employment Commission has got to stay in."

It stayed in. Next day Johnson, though his advice was ignored, said he would do his best to pass an adequate civil rights bill.

Room With A View

There's nothing like introducing a bill in Congress to protect the view out your own front window.

Unnoticed in the flutter of bills that hits every new Congress like a ticker-tape reception is one that would not only safeguard the view outside Mississippi Congressman Frank Smith's window but incidentally protect his property from commercial encroachment.

These personal benefits aren't mentioned, of course, in the bill he introduced authorizing the Park Service to purchase 235 acres from the Smoot and Gravel Company.

The 235-acre plot in question happens to lie between the Congressman's home and Mt. Vernon Highway on Washington's outskirts.

Smith took a sudden interest in preserving the scenery along Mt. Vernon Highway when radio station WPIK tried to rent ground from Smoot Sand and Gravel to erect a radio tower. There was also talk of constructing an apartment house on the 235 acres.

The Mississippi Congressman, an archfoe of all forms of integration, didn't want a radio tower for a neighbor. So he telephoned the Park Service and asked what could be done to keep such unsightly objects from marring the beauty of Mt. Vernon Highway.

The park people said they would be happy to acquire the 235 acres in the interest of preserving the scenery along the approaches to George Washington's ancestral home.

"I introduced the bill," said Congressman Smith, when queried, "in the interest of my neighbors and in my own interest."

Morse Unanimously Elected

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, the independent gadfly of the Senate, has just won a unanimous election. He even got big business to vote for him and he has been chuckling about it ever since.

No member of the Senate is more controversial than Morse. He probably would feel uneasy if his colleagues in the Senate ever supported him unanimously for anything.

But Morse has a hobby. He breeds red Devon cattle, and on this subject a lot of judges around the country have been quite unanimous. They have awarded him ribbons from Maryland to Louisiana, to the west coast.

The other day the American Devon Cattle Club, Inc. held an election and, believe it or not, elected Morse president without a dissenting vote.

To win unanimously, Morse had to have the support of S. Hallock DuPont of Wilmington, Del.; "Pete" Bostwick, the great polo player now of Bluffton, S. C.; Standish Bradford, the Massachusetts blueblood; and Leo Parker, multimillionaire of Smithdale, Miss. Though not normally Morse supporters, when it comes to breeding Devon cattle they were "brothers under the skin."

"Incidentally," says Morse, "the only election I ever won unanimously besides this one was when I was elected president of the Alice Deal Junior High Parent-Teachers Association."

Personal And Impersonal

That $18,600 for Cadillacs to accommodate both ex-GOP leader Joe Martin and new GOP leader Charley Halleck plus $26,400 for Joe's special staff didn't go down well in Joe's home area — thrifty New England. Some people remembered that when Joe defeated Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Sam had to give up his car, Congressmen Walter of Pennsylvania and Boykin of Alabama passed the hat and raised money for a Cadillac for ex-Speaker Rayburn. They didn't charge the Cadillac to the taxpayers. . . . When Senator Lausche of Ohio, perturbed over Sen. Steve Young's refusal to be escorted to the Senate swearing-in ceremony by Lausche, asked whether people in Ohio were sore at him, Congressman Vanik replied: "No, only the Democrats."

General Motors Case

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — In drafting a grand jury to develop its long-pending anti-trust case against General Motors, the Justice Department is itself attempting to get around the very same law.

The Justice Department, as exclusively revealed by this column, is out to break up General Motors. Force it to get rid of at least one of its motor car divisions and its financing affiliate.

If there is an anti-trust case, it is a civil action. The Anti-Trust Division has been attempting for years — particularly the last three — to develop such a case.

Under the present Anti-Trust laws, the Justice Department in civil cases has no power to subpoena a corporation's records. Attorney General Rogers, needled by Victor Hansen, head of the Anti-Trust Division, is asking the present Congress to change this.

With the important Presidential elections next year, the politically minded Anti-Trust lawyers apparently feel they cannot wait for that authorization. So they are getting around the restrictions in the General Motors case by using a grand jury, which has power to subpoena a corporation's records.

To make it "legal" they say the investigation is criminal, but, to quote a morning paper:

"A grand jury customarily is impaneled only when a criminal indictment is to be sought but in the G.M. case a grand jury would enable the government to reach evidence that otherwise it could not readily obtain."

Other accounts from Washington stated "the outcome of the investigations could be criminal anti-trust indictments, civil anti-trust suits, or both — or a finding there are insufficient grounds either to prosecute or sue."

The use of a grand jury to develop evidence for a civil anti-trust is not new. It has been tried before. Such evidence is supposed to be secret, but the left hand knows what the right is doing. That is so in Anti-trust, which is figuratively as well as literally the "left" hand of the Justice Department.

The big mystery in General Motors also in the rest of the Big Three as well as in other lines, is the unit profit. How much is made on each particular car in the line?

This is something Walter Reuther has been trying with no success to discover. So, this move by Anti-Trust could be helpful to him. He has more than an academic interest in the activities of the Anti-Trust lawyers.

The real monopoly is that of labor. That is where the Justice Department should be looking. The labor monopoly is putting up the cost of living, not the successful business enterprises.

The General Motors records called for by the Anti-Trust will fill several vans. The task of wading through them will be monumental — not to mention expensive.

A jury of ordinary laymen will have a tough time of it. General Motors has one of the finest management organizations in private business, but not even Frederic G. Donner, board chairman and chief executive, can answer all questions as to its organization and business. And he is a financial man.

What is needed is a jury of accountants. Even more important a jury of American business men and workers who believe in the American system of private enterprise. A system that has won two world wars and brought the American public the highest living standards ever achieved anywhere at any time in the world.

The Anti-Trust lawyers believe bigness — particularly if successful—is a crime. That is General Motors' "crime." It has been successful.

One thing — the case will be a field day for the legal profession.

Where Nature Goofed On A Problem Of Design

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Nature goofed when she designed the network of hemorrhoidal veins near the anal opening. These structures are anatomically useless and as such are a potential source of pain and discomfort when inflammation leads to hemorrhoids.

These veins are located in an area where they are subjected to constant irritation and injury. Slight tears in the membrances of the lower rectum and anal region are followed by bacterial invasion and inflammation. The veins have thin walls and are susceptible to infection, swelling, and rupture. Clots often develop. The majority of such infections are so mild they are overlooked; slight rectal soreness is present for a day or two and complete healing occurs.

The external hemorrhoidal veins are near the opening of the anus and are covered with skin. They are extremely painful when acutely inflamed. Blood clots distend the vein to such an extent it protrudes to the outside. A bluish swelling the size of the little finger is noted. The nodule develops rapidly and is so tender that sitting becomes an ordeal. These lesions are most common in sedentary workers.

This type of hemorrhoidal discomfort goes away spontaneously but meanwhile temporary relief is obtained by applying an anesthetic ointment and sitting in a tub of hot water. The physician hastens healing by opening the distended hemorrhoid and allowing the clotted blood to escape. This is not a painful procedure and prevents many days of suffering.

The internal hemorrhoidal veins are in the lining of the anal canal. Soreness and discomfort occur when they become inflamed. Straining leads to a painful protrusion of the inflamed vein and now and then blood is noted. Here, too, local anesthetic ointments offer temporary relief. Shrinking agents have been advocated but are not always successful. Cold packs do as much good, followed in six to 10 hours by a series of hot sitz baths.

Cure is possible when the entire plexus of veins is removed. The injection treatment may be helpful when hemorrhoids are small but it has to be repeated at intervals to control the condition. This is a troublesome and time consuming process.

BREATHLESS FROM HIVES

K. J. writes: Can a person who gets severe attacks of urticaria of the throat choke to death?

REPLY

Yes, if sweling is so marked as to block off the air passageway. Should this tendency exist, the victim ought to take one of the antihistaminics, adrenalin, or an adrenal steroid when the symptoms come on. Occasionally, complete closure occurs and a heroic operation is done — with a penknife if necessary — in which the windpipe in the lower-neck is cut open to allow air to reach the lungs.

DEFECTIVE HEART VALVE

F. J. writes: Are leakage of the heart and valvular leakage the same thing?

REPLY

Yes. Both are lay terms for a condition in which the valves of the heart do not close tightly. As a result, blood leaks back into the chamber rather than going out into the general circulation.

POOR CIRCULATION

F. W. writes: Can hardening of the arteries disturb the circulation to the feet?

REPLY

Yes, but not until the blood flow is reduced by 70 per cent. We have a leaflet on poor arterial circulation to the extremities that may be obtained by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope with request.

NOISY NEIGHBORS

Mrs. J. writes: What would you suggest to overcome a nervous reaction to noisy neighbors overhead?

REPLY

If you cannot remedy the situation or adjust to it — move.

EKG RESULTS

H. T. writes: What heart conditions does a cardiogram not reveal?

REPLY

The electrocardiogram is a tracing of the electrical current through the heart. Abnormalities are noted only when these impulses are prolonged or deviated through changes in the conduction system or heart muscle. As a result, the EKG may be normal even though leakage of a valve or a congenital defect exists. In addition, it may be normal seconds before a fatal heart attack occurs. The reading of a person with a nervous or broken heart may be normal except for an increased rate.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A forlorn lass in London wrote the editor of an Advice-to-the-Lovelorn column, "I've been hopelessly in love for years with a peer of the realm, and follow him wherever he goes, but he won't even give me the time of day. Should I continue trying to make him date me?"

The editor gave her an emphatic reply. "Obviously," he noted, "you have missed the boat. Why hang around the peer?"

In a satire on a TV interview show, Jack Paar threw this query at Davy Crockett: "Davy, your life has inspired millions of youngsters the country over. Alone in the woods for weeks on end, you have successfully resisted wild animals, Indians, and the elements, armed only with your knife and rifle. Tell us, Davy, what is the secret of your success?"

Valley Shoots For Class B Title In Game At Mt. Savage

Bisons Meet LaSalle, Bruce At Fort Hill

Beall High Hosts Campers; Franklin Seeks 10th In Row

Valley High School gets an opportunity to sew up a pair of championships this week.

Tonight, Coach John C. Meyers' Black Knights can win the Allegany County Class "B" championship if they dispose of the Mt. Savage Indians on the latter's court in what the Valley mentor regards as one of the most important games of the season.

A victory at Mt. Savage would qualify the Knights for the Class "B" District No. 1 tourney to be held at South High School in Hagerstown next month.

If Valley Takes Pair

If Valley, now owning a 6-0 record in the W.M.I. circuit, can take Mt. Savage tonight and Allegany High at Campobello on Friday they'll also be league champions for the 1959 campaign.

Valley leads in the Class "B" county race with a 2-0 record by virtue of wins over Mt. Savage, 65-43, and Bruce 62-55. Mt. Savage (1-1) could tie up the race by upsetting the Knights. Coach John Thomas's Indians beat Bruce, 68-59, and lost to Valley. Bruce is in last place in the triangular race with an 0-2 record.

The Black Knights hold a three-game lead in the W.M.I. race with four games remaining on the schedule. Mt. Savage, Fort Hill and Allegany are tied for the runner-up spot with three wins and three losses each.

Allegany High School, occupant of second place in the county Class "A" race with a 1-1 record, tackles Beall High School (0-2) tonight in the Mountain City.

Coach Chet Payne's Campers won over Beall in the series opener, 81-58, but lost to Fort Hill, 55-50. The Sentinels are leading the "A" race (2-0) with wins over Beall, 68-67, and Allegany while the Mountaineers are in last place with 0-2. If Allegany loses tonight Fort Hill would need to win only one of its two remaining engagements to snatch Class A honors.

Bruce At Fort Hill

Fort Hill will play host to Bruce High School tonight. Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs took a bite out of the Sentinels to the tune of 56-52 on January 13 at Westernport so Coach Wayne Boor's quint will be out for revenge.

Officials for tonight's W.M.I. contests will be Van Roby and Jim Roby at Mt. Savage, Joe Stanislawczyk and Larry Patterson at Frostburg and "Pete" Elliott and Joe Wolfe at Fort Hill.

Victorious over Allegany and Fort Hill in their last two outings, the improved LaSalle High School Explorers will be out to make a sweep of their season series with Bedford High School when they tackle the Bisons tonight at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

LaSalle, winner of five of its last six games and now 9-8 for the season, won at Bedford earlier in the campaign by the score of 50-39. The Bisons of Coach Bob "Smoky" Andrews edged Cresson High Friday night, 40-39 and will put a 6-6 record on the line in the game here.

Franklin Shoots For 10th

Franklin High School's Panthers will be shooting for their 10th consecutive win in the Potomac Valley Conference when they host Mathias High School tonight. Mathias is 1-9 in the league and extended Franklin into an overtime session before losing the first game on its home floor, 73-70. Gus Smith's Panthers are unbeaten in nine starts at home and figure to win this one. After Mathias, Wardensville, away, and Elk Garden at home are the only P.V.C. games on Franklin's schedule.

Other P. V. C. contests tonight are Ridgeley at Elk Garden, Romney at Petersburg and West Virginia School for the Deaf at Paw Paw.

Oldtown at Capon Bridge, Southern at Mountaineer, Thomas, Berkeley Springs at Hancock, Hyndman at Somerset, Bayard at Harman, Northern at Bruceton Mills in Preston county, Wardensville at Harpers Ferry, Frederick at Musselman and Shepherdstown at Martinsburg.

Notre Dame Wins Over Army, 76-60

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI) — Tom Hawkins and Gene Duffy, Notre Dame's "Mutt and Jeff" combination, led the Irish basketball team to a runaway 76-60 victory over Army Monday.

Hawkins, a 6-5 forward, emerged as the game's high scorer with 26 points while Duffy, a guard, contributed 21 points and keyed the Notre Dame offense.

Sophomore Lee Sager led Army with 22 points and was primarily responsible for the Cadets keeping matters tight in the first half.

MUSIAL SIGNS—Stan "The Man" Musial, Cardinal slugger, has an audience as he signs his 1959 contract at St. Louis. Sitting next to him is Miss Mary Murphy, secretary at Cardinals' office, who has been present every time Musial has inked a contract. Looking on in rear are Bing Devine (left), general manager of the team, and August A. Busch, Jr., owner. Musial is reported to have received his second straight $100,000 contract. (AP Photofax)

Grandelius Is Colorado Grid Coach

Former MSC Aide Signs 4-Year Pact

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado Monday tapped young Everett (Sonny) Grandelius as head football coach.

Grandelius (pronounced Grandeel-yus), a lieutenant of Coach Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State, accepted the position on these terms: A 4-year contract for $14,000 a year. It also was reported he asked and was granted authority to select five assistants, none so far named.

He replaces Dallas Ward, who was fired by the university regents Jan. 23 after 11 seasons as skipper of the Golden Buffaloes. Ward's salary was $12,800 a year.

Grandleius was a bright backfield star for Michigan State, setting a Spartan ground gaining record of 1,023 yards in 1950. He also won trophies for combining scholarship with grid proficiency. He played a year of professional football with the New York Giants after two years of Army duty, then joined the MSC staff in 1954.

Jaffee Predicts:

U.S. Will Get Clobbered In Winter Olympic Games

Soviets Subsidize Athletes To Win, Use As Propaganda

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"We're going to get clobbered again in everything but figure skating at the 1960 Winter Olympics," says former speed skating king Irving Jaffee.

"Worst of all the Russians will pick up most of the gold medals and score another big propaganda victory all over the world," moaned Jaffee, winner of the 5,000 and 10,000 meter races at the 1932 winter games.

"What people over here in the United States still don't seem to recognize is that the Russians are using subsidized athletes who do nothing else but train for sports. It's like sending men against boys and we use the boys.

"The Russians have been using their victories to point out that American youth is soft. That is not true, but they are succeeding in getting that message over.

"Now I'm not complaining about winning or losing. It's the unfairness of the thing. I assure you that if you turned over a squad of youngsters to me under the same circumstances I'll guarantee you a flock of gold medals. We have the material but we restrict ourselves to the full amateur code while the Russians just laugh at it.

"Consider this background. The Russians set up an eight year-plan in 1952 and it will reach its peak in 1960. They have trained thousands of speed skaters, skiers and hockey players. These athletes do nothing else. If one breaks a world record he is made a 'master of sport' which brings him income of from 15,000 to 20,000 rubles. He is given a job connected with sports. Not only that but he is given a home and all his children are given preferential treatment."

So what's the answer?

"It's up to Avery Brundage, the president of the International Olympic Committee, and his committee to see that the rules are the same for everyone," said Jaffee. "I certainly think we should liberalize our own rules."

Condition Of Rigneys Reported Satisfactory

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (UPI) —San Francisco Giants Manager Bill Rigney and his wife were described Monday night as "getting along satisfactorily" after receiving serious injuries in an automobile smashup early Sunday in Berkeley.

The report was from Kaiser Foundation Hospital here where both are confined.

It was reported they would be in the hospital at least 10 days and under a doctor's care at home for another week. If so, Rigney will miss the opening of spring training Feb. 23 at Phoenix.

Rigney, 41, received a broken lower jaw and a broken collarbone. His wife Paula, 38, suffered a compound fracture of the hip and cuts.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Old Enos Slaughter finally gets a buddy in baseball's most exclusive club on Memorial Day when Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox qualifies for membership.

When Ted suits up for the first game of a doubleheader against Baltimore at Fenway Park on May 30, it'll mark a remarkable milestone for a remarkable star —20 years officially in the major leagues.

There's only one man active in the club right now. That's Slaughter, now 45 and a part-time outfielder for the New York Yankees. He made it last year.

Actually, Williams has been around the full 20 years already but there's a discount for injuries and the American League has determined he won't get his gold lifetime pass until May 30. His military service in World War II and Korea does, however, count.

Just Two In Club

It was a long time ago —the spring of 1939 — when Williams first came up to the Red Sox as the brashest of rookies but even so Slaughter was an established outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, heading into his second campaign.

Mickey Vernon, now with Cleveland, came up with Washington that year but didn't stick. Murry Dickson, now a Yankee, had a twirl with the Cards. He didn't stick, either.

So this year there'll be just two in the 20-year club and two more opposite baseball characters than Slaughter and Williams you couldn't find.

Enos never gave anyone any trouble except those who stood between him and winning a ball game. Ted's career, right from its start in the minors, has been studded with controversy.

Bat Strikes Woman

In a spring exhibition during his rookie year, before his first official time at bat in the majors, he was pulled out of the lineup for a temper tantrum. He missed a fly ball it was obvious he couldn't reach but it infuriated him and when he finally retrieved the ball he heaved it over the grandstand roof.

And only last fall, two decades later, he flipped a bat after striking out and it struck a woman in the box seat.

But in the times between, there was no one like him with a bat in his hands.

Wins Six AL Batting Titles

Six times, including last year at the age of 40, he won American League batting titles. His lifetime average is .349. His pay check, after all this time, still is the greatest in baseball—$125,000.

Reaching the 20-year mark even in a slowed-down condition is a remarkable feat these days.

Warren Spahn of the Braves, starting his 18th season, is a pretty fair bet. So is Stan Musial of the Cardinals, who'll make it 19 before the season ends. Pitcher Early Wynn of the White Sox starts his 19th. Vernon completes 19 in the fall.

That's a long, long time to be a star.

French Bulldog Hangs Up Record In Garden Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The 83rd edition of the Westminister Kennel Club Dog Show began a two-day run in Madison Square Garden Monday and almost before the pooches had a chance to look over the place a record had been set.

Ch. Bouquet Nouvelle Ami, an 8-year-old French bulldog, captured his breed for the seventh straight year. That wiped out the record of the great bloodhound, Ch. Brigadier of Reynalton, who won six breeds in a row for Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge back in the '30s.

Bullets Reported $15,000 In The Red

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets are having attendance troubles and need $10,000 to keep playing in the Eastern Basketball League.

Gen. Mgr. Matt Swerdloff said Monday a campaign is under way to find 10 backers willing to put up $1,000 each. He said one prospect who was supposed to furnish $10,000 has changed his mind. Swerloff declined to identify the prospect because "he is a client of mine."

Swerloff, an attorney, club president Ed Malin and other front-office personnel work without remuneration but, despite this, the Bullets reportedly are $15,000 in the red so far this season.

The Old Germans stretched their winning streak to 13 games and took over first place in the second half championship race of the City Basketball League by defeating the Loyal Order of Moose last night on the Carver School court by the score of 66-57.

The Moose led at the quarter, 17-10, and at halftime, 35-29, but the first half champions held a 51-48 advantage at the close of the third stanza on goals by Don Moran and Eddie Orndorff. The score was knotted at 53-53 and 55-55 midway in the final heat and then the Old Gees sewed it up on field goals by Phil Smith, Orndorff and two free throws by "Buck" Smith. After Ronnie Cage scored for the Moose, a goal and two fouls by "Buck" Smith and a free throw by Phil Smith concluded the scoring.

Don Moran with 16 points, Orndorff with 14 and "Buck" Smith with 13 headed the winners attack. Kenny Johnson slammed in 19 points for the Moose.

The Knights of Columbus edged the Forty & Eight Club in the other half of the twin bill by the score of 68-67 in a game that was closely contested throughout.

Jerry Farrell's 16 points was high for the Caseys while Dave Ritter and Bill Day paced the Forty & Eight with 13 tallies each.

Fifty-eight personal fouls were plastered on the teams and five players exited via the five personals route, namely, John Poling, Ed Parsons and Paul Mason, of the Box Car Society quint, and Regis Fair and Donnie Madden of the Knights.

Farrell's goal with 55 seconds remaining gave the Caseys a 68-65 lead and decided the battle.

Baseball Seminar At Westernport Attended By 65

Sixty-five persons, representing leagues in the tri-state area, attended the baseball seminar held last night at Westernport under the auspices of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion.

The seminar was conducted by Ed Liberatore, scout of the Cincinnati Redlegs; Joe O'Rourke, scout of the Kansas City Athletics, and Ray Mueller, former major league catcher, now managing in the minors. A question and answer period concluded the 3-hour session at which Augie Diaz, chairman of Mountain District, American Legion junior baseball, presided.

Robert Koch, Maryland department chairman of Legion junior baseball, was unable to attend but advised Diaz he will be in Allegany County next month to attend a meeting that will be held for the purpose of organzing the American Legion junior baseball league. Fort Cumberland was the only Mountain District post that fielded a team last year.

Musial To Get $100,000 Second Straight Season

Signed His First Contract 21 Years Ago For $65 Month

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (the Man) Musial, relaxed and confident but making concessions to his advanced baseball age of 38, signed his second straight $100,000 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Monday.

Musial, who signed his first baseball contract 21 years ago for $65 a month, is the highest-paid player in National League history. His salary is second in the game's annals only to the $125,000-plus paid to Boston's Ted Williams.

Stan said he was fully recovered from a lame left leg which hampered him through the last half of last year and ruined his bid for an eighth National League batting crown.

Salary Same As 1958

Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr. said "I'm sure Stan won't mind when I say that his salary is the same as last year.

"He is going to have another great year and I think the Cardinals will too."

Musial, 38, said he was "more than pleased with his wonderful contract." He expressed his willingness to return to the outfield from first base, a move which Manager Solly Hemus says is in the offing.

The great lefthanded hitter with the corkscrew crouch stance hit .337 last year, third best in the league behind champion Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia and runner-up Willie Mays of San Francisco.

But his home run and runs batted in production fell off and Stan is the first to admit that his reflexes are not as fast on inside pitches and he can't hit as many long balls as formerly.

Both Stan and Hemus, want to steer away from strength-sapping day games after night contests.

This will be Stan's 17th full season with the Red Birds.

Owns .340 Average

Musial's lifetime record presents a unique picture of a hitter and slugger. His .340 lifetime average is second among active players to Williams.

Babe Ruth is the only player in history with more extra base hits than Stan. His 398 home runs puts him sixth in lifetime homers behind Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Lou Gerhig, Mel Ott and Williams.

He holds a flock of National League records, is the all-time league leader in total bases and second only to Honus Wagner in doubles.

Senators Hire Harold Keller

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators Monday hired Harold Keller, 35-year-old high school teacher, as assistant farm director.

Keller, former catcher and outfielder who had three short hitches with the Senators, has been teaching business law at Frederick (Md.) High School. He's spent his summers in baseball, though —last year as manager of the Senators' farm team at Superior in the Nebraska Rookie League.

The younger brother of Charley Keller, ex-Yankee slugger, Keller played in the minors at Memphis, Chattanooga, Augusta, Toronto and Hagerstown.

He will take the job as assistant to Farm Director Sherry Robertson March 1.

The Senators also have appointed Eddie Lake, former infielder with Detroit, the Boston Red Sox and old St. Louis Browns, as scout for the North Pacific states. Lake, of Oakland, Calif., increases the club's scouting staff to 29.

AAU May Toss Thomas' Record Out The Window

Height Unmeasured After 7-Foot Jump

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—John Thomas' 7-foot high jump—the first in history indoors—may be tossed out the window, AAU chief Dan Ferris indicated Monday.

"There's no doubt about it," said Ferris, "the height was not measured after the jump as required by the rules."

Thomas, the 17-year-old Boston University freshman, made his record leap in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden a week ago last Saturday.

Of course, the chances are that young John will go even higher before the AAU Rules Committee meets to pass on records in Miami in December.

But if he doesn't—

"I was acting as referee of the meet," Ferris told a luncheon meeting of the New York Track Writers Assn., "so I was in a good position to see what happened.

"When John made the jump, everyone was excited and congratulating him. I noticed that the crossbar had not been measured after he went over.

"So I told the officials to measure it. But, in the meanwhile, Charlie Dumas (the world's first 7-footer) was getting ready to jump.

"I told him to hold up until it was measured. But he said to me:

" 'I can't. I have to jump when I'm still warm.'

"So he went ahead and jumped, and knocked over the crossbar."

The rules require that the bar be measured before and after record jumps. It had been measured carefully before Thomas went over.

While he wouldn't say so directly, Ferris indicated that he was inclined to overlook the mistake.

Pinky Sober, chairman of the AAU's track field committee (parent body of the rules committee) refused to commit himself on the validity of the record.

"I might prejudice the rules committee," he said.

Valley Shoots For Class B Title In Game At Mt. Savage

Bisons Meet LaSalle, Bruce At Fort Hill

Beall High Hosts Campers; Franklin Seeks 10th In Row

Valley High School gets an opportunity to sew up a pair of championships this week.

Tonight, Coach John C. Meyers' Black Knights can win the Allegany County Class "B" championship if they dispose of the Mt. Savage Indians on the latter's court in what the Valley mentor regards as one of the most important games of the season.

A victory at Mt. Savage would qualify the Knights for the Class "B" District No. 1 tourney to be held at South High School in Hagerstown next month.

If Valley Takes Pair

If Valley, now owning a 6-0 record in the W.M.I. circuit, can take Mt. Savage tonight and Allegany High at Campobello on Friday they'll also be league champions for the 1959 campaign.

Valley leads in the Class "B" county race with a 2-0 record by virtue of wins over Mt. Savage, 65-43, and Bruce 62-55. Mt. Savage (1-1) could tie up the race by upsetting the Knights. Coach John Thomas's Indians beat Bruce, 68-59, and lost to Valley. Bruce is in last place in the triangular race with an 0-2 record.

The Black Knights hold a three-game lead in the W.M.I. race with four games remaining on the schedule. Mt. Savage, Fort Hill and Allegany are tied for the runner-up spot with three wins and three losses each.

Allegany High School, occupant of second place in the county Class "A" race with a 1-1 record, tackles Beall High School (0-2) tonight in the Mountain City.

Coach Chet Payne's Campers won over Beall in the series opener, 81-58, but lost to Fort Hill, 55-50. The Sentinels are leading the "A" race (2-0) with wins over Beall, 68-67, and Allegany while the Mountaineers are in last place with 0-2. If Allegany loses tonight Fort Hill would need to win only one of its two remaining engagements to snatch Class A honors.

Bruce At Fort Hill

Fort Hill will play host to Bruce High School tonight. Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs took a bite out of the Sentinels to the tune of 56-52 on January 13 at Westernport so Coach Wayne Boor's quint will be out for revenge.

Officials for tonight's W.M.I. contests will be Van Roby and Jim Roby at Mt. Savage, Joe Stanislawczyk and Larry Patterson at Frostburg and "Pete" Elliott and Joe Wolfe at Fort Hill.

Victorious over Allegany and Fort Hill in their last two outings, the improved LaSalle High School Explorers will be out to make a sweep of their season series with Bedford High School when they tackle the Bisons tonight at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

LaSalle, winner of five of its last six games and now 9-8 for the season, won at Bedford earlier in the campaign by the score of 50-39. The Bisons of Coach Bob "Smoky" Andrews edged Cresson High Friday night, 40-39 and will put a 6-6 record on the line in the game here.

Franklin Shoots For 10th

Franklin High School's Panthers will be shooting for their 10th consecutive win in the Potomac Valley Conference when they host Mathias High School tonight. Mathias is 1-9 in the league and extended Franklin into an overtime session before losing the first game on its home floor, 73-70. Gus Smith's Panthers are unbeaten in nine starts at home and figure to win this one. After Mathias, Wardensville, away, and Elk Garden at home are the only P.V.C. games on Franklin's schedule.

Other P. V. C. contests tonight are Ridgeley at Elk Garden, Romney at Petersburg and West Virginia School for the Deaf at Paw Paw.

Oldtown at Capon Bridge, Southern at Mountaineer, Thomas, Berkeley Springs at Hancock, Hyndman at Somerset, Bayard at Harman, Northern at Bruceton Mills in Preston county, Wardensville at Harpers Ferry, Frederick at Musselman and Shepherdstown at Martinsburg.

Notre Dame Wins Over Army, 76-60

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI) — Tom Hawkins and Gene Duffy, Notre Dame's "Mutt and Jeff" combination, led the Irish basketball team to a runaway 76-60 victory over Army Monday.

Hawkins, a 6-5 forward, emerged as the game's high scorer with 26 points while Duffy, a guard, contributed 21 points and keyed the Notre Dame offense.

Sophomore Lee Sager led Army with 22 points and was primarily responsible for the Cadets keeping matters tight in the first half.

MUSIAL SIGNS—Stan "The Man" Musial, Cardinal slugger, has an audience as he signs his 1959 contract at St. Louis. Sitting next to him is Miss Mary Murphy, secretary at Cardinals' office, who has been present every time Musial has inked a contract. Looking on in rear are Bing Devine (left), general manager of the team, and August A. Busch, Jr., owner. Musial is reported to have received his second straight $100,000 contract. (AP Photofax)

Grandelius Is Colorado Grid Coach

Former MSC Aide Signs 4-Year Pact

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado Monday tapped young Everett (Sonny) Grandelius as head football coach.

Grandelius (pronounced Grandeel-yus), a lieutenant of Coach Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State, accepted the position on these terms: A 4-year contract for $14,000 a year. It also was reported he asked and was granted authority to select five assistants, none so far named.

He replaces Dallas Ward, who was fired by the university regents Jan. 23 after 11 seasons as skipper of the Golden Buffaloes. Ward's salary was $12,800 a year.

Grandelius was a bright backfield star for Michigan State, setting a Spartan ground gaining record of 1,023 yards in 1950. He also won trophies for combining scholarship with grid proficiency. He played a year of professional football with the New York Giants after two years of Army duty, then joined the MSC staff in 1954.

Jaffee Predicts:

U.S. Will Get Clobbered In Winter Olympic Games

Soviets Subsidize Athletes To Win, Use As Propaganda

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"We're going to get clobbered again in everything but figure skating at the 1960 Winter Olympics," says former speed skating king Irving Jaffee.

"Worst of all the Russians will pick up most of the gold medals and score another big propaganda victory all over the world," moaned Jaffee, winner of the 5,000 and 10,000 meter races at the 1932 winter games.

"What people over here in the United States still don't seem to recognize is that the Russians are using subsidized athletes who do nothing else but train for sports. It's like sending men against boys and we use the boys.

"The Russians have been using their victories to point out that American youth is soft. That is not true, but they are succeeding in getting that message over.

"Now I'm not complaining about winning or losing. It's the unfairness of the thing. I assure you that if you turned over a squad of youngsters to me under the same circumstances I'll guarantee you a flock of gold medals. We have the material but we restrict ourselves to the full amateur code while the Russians just laugh at it.

"Consider this background. The Russians set up an eight year-plan in 1952 and it will reach its peak in 1960. They have trained thousands of speed skaters, skiers and hockey players. These athletes do nothing else. If one breaks a world record he is made a 'master of sport' which brings him income of from 15,000 to 20,000 rubles. He is given a job connected with sports. Not only that but he is given a home and all his children are given preferential treatment."

So what's the answer?

"It's up to Avery Brundage, the president of the International Olympic Committee, and his committee to see that the rules are the same for everyone," said Jaffee. "I certainly think we should liberalize our own rules."

Condition Of Rigneys Reported Satisfactory

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (UPI) —San Francisco Giants Manager Bill Rigney and his wife were described Monday night as "getting along satisfactorily" after receiving serious injuries in an automobile smashup early Sunday in Berkeley.

The report was from Kaiser Foundation Hospital here where both are confined.

It was reported they would be in the hospital at least 10 days and under a doctor's care at home for another week. If so, Rigney will miss the opening of spring training Feb. 23 at Phoenix.

Rigney, 41, received a broken lower jaw and a broken collarbone. His wife Paula, 38, suffered a compound fracture of the hip and cuts.

President Horace Stoneham said one of the coaches, Francis (Salty) Parker or Wes Westrum, would fill in for Rigney until he recovers.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Old Enos Slaughter finally gets a buddy in baseball's most exclusive club on Memorial Day when Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox qualifies for membership.

When Ted suits up for the first game of a doubleheader against Baltimore at Fenway Park on May 30, it'll mark a remarkable milestone for a remarkable star —20 years officially in the major leagues.

There's only one man active in the club right now. That's Slaughter, now 45 and a part-time outfielder for the New York Yankees. He made it last year.

Actually, Williams has been around the full 20 years already but there's a discount for injuries and the American League has determined he won't get his gold lifetime pass until May 30. His military service in World War II and Korea does, however, count.

Just Two In Club

It was a long time ago —the spring of 1939 — when Williams first came up to the Red Sox as the brashest of rookies but even so Slaughter was an established outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, heading into his second campaign.

Mickey Vernon, now with Cleveland, came up with Washington that year but didn't stick. Murry Dickson, now a Yankee, had a twirl with the Cards. He didn't stick, either.

So this year there'll be just two in the 20-year club and two more opposite baseball characters than Slaughter and Williams you couldn't find.

Enos never gave anyone any trouble except those who stood between him and winning a ball game. Ted's career, right from its start in the minors, has been studded with controversy.

Bat Strikes Woman

In a spring exhibition during his rookie year, before his first official time at bat in the majors, he was pulled out of the lineup for a temper tantrum. He missed a fly ball it was obvious he couldn't reach but it infuriated him and when he finally retrieved the ball he heaved it over the grandstand roof.

And only last fall, two decades later, he flipped a bat after striking out and it struck a woman in the box seat.

But in the times between, there was no one like him with a bat in his hands.

Wins Six AL Batting Titles

Six times, including last year at the age of 40, he won American League batting titles. His lifetime average is .349. His pay check, after all this time, still is the greatest in baseball—$125,000.

Reaching the 20-year mark even in a slowed-down condition is a remarkable feat these days.

Warren Spahn of the Braves, starting his 18th season, is a pretty fair bet. So is Stan Musial of the Cardinals, who'll make it 19 before the season ends. Pitcher Early Wynn of the White Sox starts his 19th. Vernon completes 19 in the fall.

That's a long, long time to be a star.

French Bulldog Hangs Up Record In Garden Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The 83rd edition of the Westminister Kennel Club Dog Show began a two-day run in Madison Square Garden Monday and almost before the pooches had a chance to look over the place a record had been set.

Ch. Bouquet Nouvelle Ami, an 8-year-old French bulldog, captured his breed for the seventh straight year. That wiped out the record of the great bloodhound, Ch. Brigadier of Reynalton, who won six breeds in a row for Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge back in the '30s.

Bullets Reported $15,000 In The Red

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets are having attendance troubles and need $10,000 to keep playing in the Eastern Basketball League.

Gen. Mgr. Matt Swerdloff said Monday a campaign is under way to find 10 backers willing to put up $1,000 each. He said one prospect who was supposed to furnish $10,000 has changed his mind. Swerloff declined to identify the prospect because "he is a client of mine."

Swerloff, an attorney, club president Ed Malin and other front-office personnel work without remuneration but, despite this, the Bullets reportedly are $15,000 in the red so far this season.

The Old Germans stretched their winning streak to 13 games and took over first place in the second half championship race of the City Basketball League by defeating the Loyal Order of Moose last night on the Carver School court by the score of 66-57.

The Moose led at the quarter, 17-10, and at halftime, 35-29, but the first half champions held a 51-48 advantage at the close of the third stanza on goals by Don Moran and Eddie Orndorff. The score was knotted at 53-53 and 55-55 midway in the final heat and then the Old Gees sewed it up on field goals by Phil Smith, Orndorff and two free throws by "Buck" Smith. After Ronnie Cage scored for the Moose, a goal and two fouls by "Buck" Smith and a free throw by Phil Smith concluded the scoring.

Don Moran with 16 points, Orndorff with 14 and "Buck" Smith with 13 headed the winners attack. Kenny Johnson slammed in 19 points for the Moose.

The Knights of Columbus edged the Forty & Eight Club in the other half of the twin bill by the score of 68-67 in a game that was closely contested throughout.

Jerry Farrell's 16 points was high for the Caseys while Dave Ritter and Bill Day paced the Forty & Eight with 13 tallies each.

Fifty-eight personal fouls were plastered on the teams and five players exited via the five personals route, namely, John Poling, Ed Parsons and Paul Mason, of the Box Car Society quint, and Regis Fair and Donnie Madden of the Knights.

Farrell's goal with 55 seconds remaining gave the Caseys a 68-65 lead and decided the battle.

Baseball Seminar At Westernport Attended By 65

Sixty-five persons, representing leagues in the tri-state area, attended the baseball seminar held last night at Westernport under the auspices of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion.

The seminar was conducted by Ed Liberatore, scout of the Cincinnati Redlegs; Joe O'Rourke, scout of the Kansas City Athletics, and Ray Mueller, former major league catcher, now managing in the minors. A question and answer period concluded the 3-hour session at which Augie Diaz, chairman of Mountain District, American Legion junior baseball, presided.

Robert Koch, Maryland department chairman of Legion junior baseball, was unable to attend but advised Diaz he will be in Allegany County next month to attend a meeting that will be held for the purpose of organzing the American Legion junior baseball league. Fort Cumberland was the only Mountain District post that fielded a team last year.

Musial To Get $100,000 Second Straight Season

Signed His First Contract 21 Years Ago For $65 Month

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (the Man) Musial, relaxed and confident but making concessions to his advanced baseball age of 38, signed his second straight $100,000 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Monday.

Musial, who signed his first baseball contract 21 years ago for $65 a month, is the highest-paid player in National League history. His salary is second in the game's annals only to the $125,000-plus paid to Boston's Ted Williams.

Stan said he was fully recovered from a lame left leg which hampered him through the last half of last year and ruined his bid for an eighth National League batting crown.

Salary Same As 1958

Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr. said "I'm sure Stan won't mind when I say that his salary is the same as last year.

"He is going to have another great year and I think the Cardinals will too."

Musial, 38, said he was "more than pleased with his wonderful contract." He expressed his willingness to return to the outfield from first base, a move which Manager Solly Hemus says is in the offing.

The great lefthanded hitter with the corkscrew crouch stance hit .337 last year, third best in the league behind champion Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia and runner-up Willie Mays of San Francisco.

But his home run and runs batted in production fell off and Stan is the first to admit that his reflexes are not as fast on inside pitches and he can't hit as many long balls as formerly.

Both Stan and Hemus, want to steer away from strength-sapping day games after night contests.

This will be Stan's 17th full season with the Red Birds.

Owns .340 Average

Musial's lifetime record presents a unique picture of a hitter and slugger. His .340 lifetime average is second among active players to Williams.

Babe Ruth is the only player in history with more extra base hits than Stan. His 398 home runs puts him sixth in lifetime homers behind Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Lou Gerhig, Mel Ott and Williams.

He holds a flock of National League records, is the all-time league leader in total bases and second only to Honus Wagner in doubles.

Senators Hire Harold Keller

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators Monday hired Harold Keller, 35-year-old high school teacher, as assistant farm director.

Keller, former catcher and outfielder who had three short hitches with the Senators, has been teaching business law at Frederick (Md.) High School. He's spent his summers in baseball, though —last year as manager of the Senators' farm team at Superior in the Nebraska Rookie League.

The younger brother of Charley Keller, ex-Yankee slugger, Keller played in the minors at Memphis, Chattanooga, Augusta, Toronto and Hagerstown.

He will take the job as assistant to Farm Director Sherry Robertson March 1.

The Senators also have appointed Eddie Lake, former infielder with Detroit, the Boston Red Sox and old St. Louis Browns, as scout for the North Pacific states. Lake, of Oakland, Calif., increases the club's scouting staff to 29.

AAU May Toss Thomas' Record Out The Window

Height Unmeasured After 7-Foot Jump

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—John Thomas' 7-foot high jump—the first in history indoors—may be tossed out the window, AAU chief Dan Ferris indicated Monday.

"There's no doubt about it," said Ferris, "the height was not measured after the jump as required by the rules."

Thomas, the 17-year-old Boston University freshman, made his record leap in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden a week ago last Saturday.

Of course, the chances are that young John will go even higher before the AAU Rules Committee meets to pass on records in Miami in December.

But if he doesn't—

"I was acting as referee of the meet," Ferris told a luncheon meeting of the New York Track Writers Assn., "so I was in a good position to see what happened.

"When John made the jump, everyone was excited and congratulating him. I noticed that the crossbar had not been measured after he went over.

"So I told the officials to measure it. But, in the meanwhile, Charlie Dumas (the world's first 7-footer) was getting ready to jump.

"I told him to hold up until it was measured. But he said to me:

"'I can't. I have to jump when I'm still warm.'

"So he went ahead and jumped, and knocked over the crossbar."

The rules require that the bar be measured before and after record jumps. It had been measured carefully before Thomas went over.

While he wouldn't say so directly, Ferris indicated that he was inclined to overlook the mistake.

Pinky Sober, chairman of the AAU's track field committee (parent body of the rules committee) refused to commit himself on the validity of the record.

"I might prejudice the rules committee," he said.

Ice On Starting Gate Causes False Start At Bowie

Spill Marks Eighth Race, Jockey Hurt

Dorothys Best Runs Twice And Finishes Last By 27 Lengths

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — A film of ice covered electrical magnets in the starting gate at Bowie Race Track Monday and caused the first false start in 12 years at a Maryland track.

Later, in the eighth race, two horses spilled near the three-sixteenths pole resulting in the destruction of the 3-year-old colt, Parcee. Neither jockey involved in the spill was seriously hurt.

Regalbuto Injured

Joseph A. Regalbuto reportedly suffered chest contusions. Mike Mafale jumped to his feet after the fall and held his mount, Parcee, by the reins until the horse could be taken from the track.

There was no indication of holes having developed in the track because of the weather or previous races. Mafale said Parcee crossed his legs and stumbled. The other horse, Tribultion, fell over him.

In the sixth, recall man Andy Fitchett flagged down the nine-horse field after head starter Eddie Blind signaled that the break was false.

Corle Unable To Stop

Every jockey got the message, but one of them — Bobby Corle — was unable to restrain his mount, Dorothys Best. The 4-year-old filly went the six furlongs in 1:17.8, while the other eight were erased before going a quarter mile.

The crowd of 7,891 watched Dorothys Best start again and this time finished last by 27 lengths. After the race, racing commission steward Joseph F. Flanagan defended his decision to let Dorotheys Best run twice.

"If we had taken her out," he said, "someone would think we should have scratched the horse which was the next to last one to be pulled up."

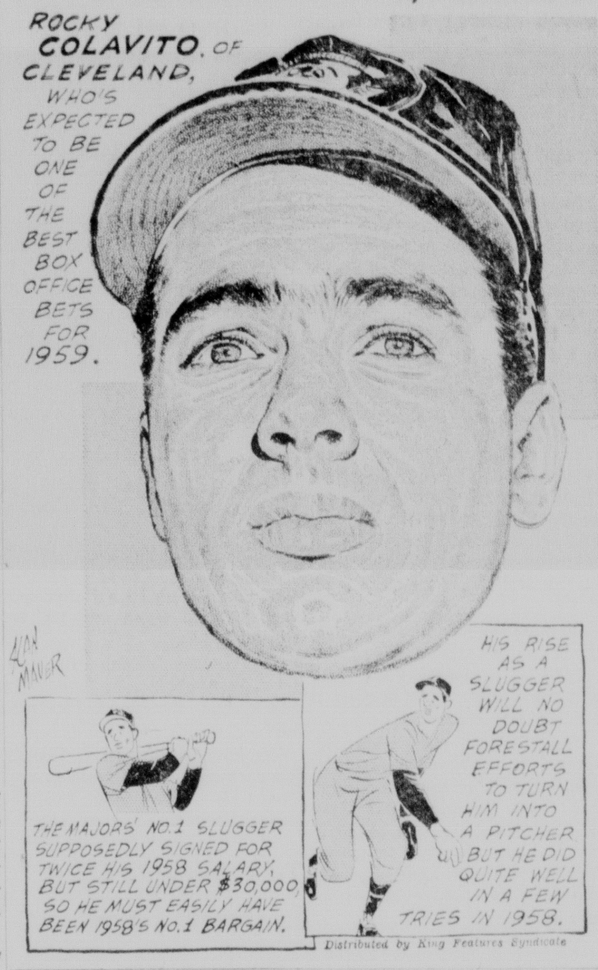

In the sixth, the electrical magnets operated irregularly because of the ice coat. The doors of the starting gate are supposed to open simultaneously, but in this case there was a variance when the button was pushed.

Cary C. Boshamer's Carolina Joy won the featured $4,000 Carrollton Purse by four lengths. The winner was timed in 58.8 seconds over the five furlongs.

Carolina Joy paid $4.00, $3.00 and $2.40; Orleans Sun $4.80 and $3.60, and Vir Marie $5.40.

Ice On Starting Gate Causes False Start At Bowie

Spill Marks Eighth Race, Jockey Hurt

Dorothys Best Runs Twice And Finishes Last By 27 Lengths

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — A film of ice covered electrical magnets in the starting gate at Bowie Race Track Monday and caused the first false start in 12 years at a Maryland track.

Later, in the eighth race, two horses spilled near the three-sixteenths pole resulting in the destruction of the 3-year-old colt, Parcee. Neither jockey involved in the spill was seriously hurt.

Regalbuto Injured

Joseph A. Regalbuto reportedly suffered chest contusions. Mike Mafale jumped to his feet after the fall and held his mount, Parcee, by the reins until the horse could be taken from the track.

There was no indication of holes having developed in the track because of the weather or previous races. Mafale said Parcee crossed his legs and stumbled. The other horse, Tribultion, fell over him.

In the sixth, recall man Andy Fitchett flagged down the nine-horse field after head starter Eddie Blind signaled that the break was false.

Corle Unable To Stop

Every jockey got the message, but one of them — Bobby Corle — was unable to restrain his mount, Dorothys Best. The 4-year-old filly went the six furlongs in 1:17.8, while the other eight were erased before going a quarter mile.

The crowd of 7,891 watched Dorothys Best start again and this time finished last by 27 lengths. After the race, racing commission steward Joseph F. Flanagan defended his decision to let Dorotheys Best run twice.

"If we had taken her out," he said, "someone would think we should have scratched the horse which was the next to last one to be pulled up."

In the sixth, the electrical magnets operated irregularly because of the ice coat. The doors of the starting gate are supposed to open simultaneously, but in this case there was a variance when the button was pushed.

Cary C. Boshamer's Carolina Joy won the featured $4,000 Carrollton Purse by four lengths. The winner was timed in 58.8 seconds over the five furlongs.

Carolina Joy paid $4.00, $3.00 and $2.40; Orleans Sun $4.80 and $3.60, and Vir Marie $5.40.

Bill Would Revamp State Natural Resources Board

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill to revamp the Maryland Board of Natural Resources and give it full authority over state conservation agencies was introduced in the Legislature Monday night.

It was sponsored by Del. Whitmore (D - Anne Arundel). He sought the reorganization two years ago, but the bill failed to get out of committee.

Whitmore proposes creating a board of 19 members to administer the state's natural resources, all appointed by the governor in place of a present board of eight appointive and five ex - officio members.

They would work through special three-man committees composed of board members to deal with the Departments of Forests and Parks, Game and Inland Fish, Geology, Mines and Water Resources, Research and Education and Water Pollution control.

Each of these departments would have a full-time director as it now has but the commissions which administer them would be abolished.

The new three-man committees would form liaison units of an advisory nature between each department director and the Board of Natural Resources.

The board would have authority to name an executive director and could request resignation of any of its members by a majority vote, with the governor naming a replacement.

Any changes in regulations though would have to be cleared through a special committee of the Legislative Council, between-sessions study arm of the General Assembly.

The present board of natural resources was set up in 1951 to coordinate and integrate the activities of Maryland's various conservation agencies. It is presided over by the chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, who is designated by law as its head.

Booklet Available For Record Of Important Papers

Copies of a new publication of the University of Maryland extension service which can help both farm and city people keep proper family records are now available in the office of Miss Mary P. Wise, county home demonstration agent.

In this eight-page booklet, a person may compile a record of his important papers.

This paper has spaces for the answers to some 22 important questions. In it may be recorded such important facts as where such documents as birth certificate, baptismal certificate, marriage license, divorce papers, naturalization papers, veterans papers, medical and school records are stored.

Another space is for the listing of where an inventory of household goods is stored, where the farm or business records are located and much other important information.

Television and Radio

Fustest With The Mostest

I was sitting home minding my own business and listening to New York's peppy independent WNEW, when the announcer broke in with an interview on tape of Ernest Hemingway, the writer and occasional revolutionist. Hemingway was asked what he thought about the revolution in Cuba, where he has lived for years, and he said he was very happy about it but had nothing to do with it.

This seemed like an excellent and logical idea, to interview Cuba's most famous expatriate writer, except no one but WNEW thought of it. WNEW, which had been allied with "The Daily News" for seventeen years, now has its own full time news staff, under Martin Weldon, and its news coverage is busting out all over. Its brash young news staff gets there first and gets it on the air fastest. For instance, when Edward R. Murrow was visited by the District Attoney's office in connection with his documentary on prostitution, WNEW was first on the air with the news that Murrow wasn't going to tell his sources, beating among others Murrow's own station, WCBS.

"I came in December 1st, expecting to have a month to organize the set-up and pick the staff. Then the newspapers struck and instead of a month we only had a week or two. We can do a more thorough job than the networks. After all they have soap opera to worry about. Only a station committed to a basic policy of music and news can afford to interrupt at any time with news breaks," says Weldon.

Radio news people, Weldon admits, have always had a terrible inferiority complex on the question of news coverage, many of them feeling they're a lesser breed than newspapermen. Weldon is doing his best to demolish the feeling and the reputation. His men get to the scene of the crime as fast or faster than newsmen, tape interviews with survivors and police officers and eye-witnesses, and have the whole thing on the air within minutes. The guys phone in and are put right on the air while on the telephone.

"We haven't any Murrows or Sevareids on the staff," says Weldon, "just fifteen guys who speak clearly and have some news sense. Most of them came from the United Press or from some magazines. We've also got a girl, Ruth Lloyd, you'll be hearing a great deal about. She went to Cuba and got the first interview with Fidel Castro in English which WNEW put on the air a good many times. This was widely used by the news services."

Usually the WNEW man is the only radio man to show up on a news story. Sometimes he's the only newsman of any kind. This gives their broadcasts a very wide awake, knowledgeable air, far different from that of announcers who are simply tearing copies off a news ticker. Frankly, I think this sort of thing gives the newspapermen a little run for their money and gets everybody a little more on his toes. A fine thing.

The WNEW tape recorder has been on the spot at lots of exciting places. When the Chionchio kidnapped baby was found, WNEW reporter Dick Merson interviewed nurse Mary Kevin on the baby's condition at 8 a. m. that morning. At 11:30 a. m. Mrs. Chionchio was interviewed by the ubiquitous Ruth Lloyd and at noon reporter Ed Scott was reporting from the Poplar Street police station as the kidnapper was booked. When Mikoyan arrived the coverage started with an interview with Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm concerning police precautions; at 7:30 p. m. reporter Ike Pappas at Idlewild described and interviewed Hungarian demonstrators. At 9 p. m. Mikoyan had landed and Pappas reported the arrival against a background of "Mikoyan is a murderer" protests.

WNEW has always had lots of personality, a sort of impish charm and originality which is widely imitated by independent radio stations the country over. Its new news coverage, I think, gives it character and a little more depth.

"Our policy is to go after everything if you have time," says Weldon. "We were the only station in New York to broadcast Rockefeller's inauguration speech—live and direct from Albany. While we covered the revolution in Cuba, we plan to remain mostly local, right down to the man on the street. In fact one of our new features is a People's Panel where we ask some people on the street what they think of Rockefeller's new tax plans or whether cops should have a union."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Anita Ekberg is a beautiful gal and a sexy one—that's admitted. But so far, in the movies I've seen, she hasn't set the world on fire with much emotion. If any director can inspire the spark it is Federico Fellini (an Oscar winner for "La Strada") who has signed Anita for "Sweet Life."

I wonder about her marriage to Tony Steele with whom she's had many fights, and reconciliations. While Anita makes the Fellini movie, Steele remains in Hollywood testing for a TV series at 20th Century-Fox. Anita is due here around April 15 when "Sweet Life" is completed. Her European movies have kept her away from Hollywood over a year.

The ex-husband of Mrs. Tyrone Power, Niko Minardos, and Jill St. John reported for work today on the "Holiday for Lovers" set and to director David Wesibart. Minardos is six feet tall, very good looking and he's done quite a bit of TV.

Jill dyed her hair black because her boy friend, Lance Reventlow, wanted to see how she'd look with dark hair. She's keeping it dark for the picture.

This is Clifton Webb's starring vehicle. Gene Tierney was originally set to play opposite Clifton, then Joan Fontaine. But Joan didn't feel well enough to go to work so on the set tomorrow morning will be Jane Wyman, who took the place vacated by both girls.

There have been many rumors that May Britt would get the Marlene Dietrich role in "The Blue Angel," the movie that made Dietrich famous, but time went on and nothing happened. Now 20th Century-Fox announces that after all these months May is the lucky girl. More important, the German-made "Blue Angel" has been handed Jack Cummings, who will make it during 1959.

Audrey Hepburn won't again ride that grey stallion that threw her in Durango if Mel Ferrer has anything to say about it, and I think he has plenty. He told me he will never consent to her riding the horse again. He added that he is so relieved the X-rays showed her injuries were much less than was originally feared.

Mel said Audrey had ridden the horse beautifully and had no trouble with him until the accident, her last scene on the horse. "I'm sure John Huston will re-arrange the script so that she won't have to ride," said Mel.

Audrey goes back to "The Unforgiven" company in Mexico the first of March when Mel will have finished editing his "Green Mansions" and can stay with her.

I never realized how many of our stars are studying singing, eager to become singers, until I heard about Scott Brady, who for months has been working with Harriet Lee at her studio.

He made an audition there and was given the role in "Desiry Rides Again" on Broadway opposite Dolores Gray. Scott is taking singing lessons every day and will until he departs for New York for his stage play.

Two Appeals Filed In Circuit Court

Two appeals from Workmen's Compensation Commission decisions were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Zellie S. Lease, mother of William Leroy Lease, as claimant, filed one of the appeals. The case was against Supreme Amusement Company, as employer, and Security Insurance Company as insurer. It was filed for Mrs. Lease by Attorney John M. Robb.

The second appeal was brought by Big Savage Refractories Corporation, as employer, and the State Accident Fund, as insurer. Archie R. Wolfe was the claimant in this case. This appeal was filed by Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert and J. Howard Holzer and Thomas B. Finan, special attorneys for the employer and insurer.

One Big Fire Mars Good 1958 County Record

District Forester William H. Johnson has prepared a 1958 forest fire report which shows that a single blaze can nullify much good work.

Mr. Johnson's report shows there were 50 fires in 1958 in the four Western Maryland counties and they burned a total of 346.1 acres.

Allegany County had the unenviable position of accounting for nearly all of the burned acreage. This county's 22 fires destroyed 319.75 acres of woodland. Actually, one spring fire 1st April on Haystack Mountain burned more than 200 acres.

In all four counties more acreage was burned during the spring months than in the fall. Allegany County's six spring fires burned 261 acres and the 16 fall fires only 58.75 acres. In Washington County last year there were 10 fires which burned a total of 13.83 acres, all but 1.33 acres of which occurred in the spring. Garrett County had the best 1958 record with 10 fires for only 3.45 acres.

Frederick County had only eight 1958 fires, which burned 9.16 acres, 6.66 of which occurred in the spring.

The burned acreage in the four counties represented .048 per cent of the 720,000 acres of woodland in the area.

In 1957 there were 61 fires in the four counties but the total burned acreage was 230.31 acres or .032 per cent.

Brush burning, careless smoking and railroads still continue to be the most common causes of forest and woods fires.

Man Sentenced In Juvenile Court

A 37-year-old Westernport man was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction yesterday at a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson sentenced Robert A. Duckworth after finding him guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya presented the case for the state and Tfc. Milton Hart of the State Police made the arrest in the case.

29 High Seniors Take Test For Scholarships

Some 29 high school seniors from Allegany County public and parochial high schools took the teacher education scholarship examination last Saturday at Allegany High School, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer, who was in charge of the administration of the test.

Mr. Rizer was assisted by Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools, and John R. Snyder, guidance counselor at Allegany High School. The test was given from 9 a. m. until 12:15 p. m. Saturday.

All of the test papers have been sent to Science Research Associates in Chicago for grading. There are seven of these teacher education scholarships available for Allegany County. They will be awarded on the basis of the scores on the test and the need of the individual students. Winners will be notified directly by the State Department of Education.

Bill Would Revamp State Natural Resources Board

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill to revamp the Maryland Board of Natural Resources and give it full authority over state conservation agencies was introduced in the Legislature Monday night.

It was sponsored by Del. Whitmore (D - Anne Arundel). He sought the reorganization two years ago, but the bill failed to get out of committee.

Whitmore proposes creating a board of 19 members to administer the state's natural resources, all appointed by the governor in place of a present board of eight appointive and five ex - officio members.

They would work through special three-man committees composed of board members to deal with the Departments of Forests and Parks, Game and Inland Fish, Geology, Mines and Water Resources, Research and Education and Water Pollution control.

Each of these departments would have a full-time director as it now has but the commissions which administer them would be abolished.

The new three-man committees would form liaison units of an advisory nature between each department director and the Board of Natural Resources.

The board would have authority to name an executive director and could request resignation of any of its members by a majority vote, with the governor naming a replacement.

Any changes in regulations though would have to be cleared through a special committee of the Legislative Council, between-sessions study arm of the General Assembly.

The present board of natural resources was set up in 1951 to coordinate and integrate the activities of Maryland's various conservation agencies. It is presided over by the chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, who is designated by law as its head.

Booklet Available For Record Of Important Papers

Copies of a new publication of the University of Maryland extension service which can help both farm and city people keep proper family records are now available in the office of Miss Mary P. Wise, county home demonstration agent.

This paper has spaces for the answers to some 22 important questions. In it may be recorded such important facts as where such documents as birth certificate, baptismal certificate, marriage license, divorce papers, naturalization papers, veterans papers, medical and school records are stored.

Another space is for the listing of where an inventory of household goods is stored, where the farm or business records are located and much other important information.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Anita Ekberg is a beautiful gal and a sexy one—that's admitted. But so far, in the movies I've seen, she hasn't set the world on fire with much emotion. If any director can inspire the spark it is Federico Fellini (an Oscar winner for "La Strada") who has signed Anita for "Sweet Life."

I wonder about her marriage to Tony Steele with whom she's had many fights, and reconciliations. While Anita makes the Fellini movie, Steele remains in Hollywood testing for a TV series at 20th Century-Fox. Anita is due here around April 15 when "Sweet Life" is completed. Her European movies have kept her away from Hollywood over a year.

The ex-husband of Mrs. Tyrone Power, Niko Minardos, and Jill St. John reported for work today on the "Holiday for Lovers" set and to director David Wesibart. Minardos is six feet tall, very good looking and he's done quite a bit of TV.

This is Clifton Webb's starring vehicle. Gene Tierney was originally set to play opposite Clifton, then Joan Fontaine. But Joan didn't feel well enough to go to work so on the set tomorrow morning will be Jane Wyman, who took the place vacated by both girls.

There have been many rumors that May Britt would get the Marlene Dietrich role in "The Blue Angel," the movie that made Dietrich famous, but time went on and nothing happened. Now 20th Century-Fox announces that after all these months May is the lucky girl. More important, the German-made "Blue Angel" has been handed Jack Cummings, who will make it during 1959.

Audrey Hepburn won't again ride that grey stallion that threw her in Durango if Mel Ferrer has anything to say about it, and I think he has plenty. He told me he will never consent to her riding the horse again. He added that he is so relieved the X-rays showed her injuries were much less than was originally feared.

Mel said Audrey had ridden the horse beautifully and had no trouble with him until the accident, her last scene on the horse. "I'm sure John Huston will re-arrange the script so that she won't have to ride," said Mel.

Audrey goes back to "The Unforgiven" company in Mexico the first of March when Mel will have finished editing his "Green Mansions" and can stay with her.

I never realized how many of our stars are studying singing, eager to become singers, until I heard about Scott Brady, who for months has been working with Harriet Lee at her studio.

He made an audition there and was given the role in "Desiry Rides Again" on Broadway opposite Dolores Gray. Scott is taking singing lessons every day and will until he departs for New York for his stage play.

Television and Radio

Fustest With The Mostest

I was sitting home minding my own business and listening to New York's peppy independent, WNEW, when the announcer broke in with an interview on tape of Ernest Hemingway, the writer and occasional revolutionist. Hemingway was asked what he thought about the revolution in Cuba, where he has lived for years, and he said he was very happy about it but had nothing to do with it.

This seemed like an excellent and logical idea, to interview Cuba's most famous expatriate writer, except no one but WNEW thought of it. WNEW, which had been allied with "The Daily News" for seventeen years, now has its own full time news staff, under Martin Weldon, and its news coverage is busting out all over. Its brash young news staff gets there first and gets it on the air fastest. For instance, when Edward R. Murrow was visited by the District Attoney's office in connection with his documentary on prostitution, WNEW was first on the air with the news that Murrow wasn't going to tell his sources, beating among others Murrow's own station, WCBS.

"I came in December 1st, expecting to have a month to organize the set-up and pick the staff. Then the newspapers struck and instead of a month we only had a week or two. We can do a more thorough job than the networks. After all they have soap opera to worry about. Only a station committed to a basic policy of music and news can afford to interrupt at any time with news breaks," says Weldon.

Radio news people, Weldon admits, have always had a terrible inferiority complex on the question of news coverage, many of them feeling they're a lesser breed than newspapermen. Weldon is doing his best to demolish the feeling and the reputation. His men get to the scene of the crime as fast or faster than newsmen, tape interviews with survivors and police officers and eye-witnesses, and have the whole thing on the air within minutes. The guys phone in and are put right on the air while on the telephone.

"We haven't any Murrows or Sevareids on the staff," says Weldon, "just fifteen guys who speak clearly and have some news sense. Most of them came from the United Press or from some magazines. We've also got a girl, Ruth Lloyd, you'll be hearing a great deal about. She went to Cuba and got the first interview with Fidel Castro in English which WNEW put on the air a good many times. This was widely used by the news services."

Usually the WNEW man is the only radio man to show up on a news story. Sometimes he's the only newsman of any kind. This gives their broadcasts a very wide awake, knowledgeable air, far different from that of announcers who are simply tearing copies off a news ticker. Frankly, I think this sort of thing gives the newspapermen a little run for their money and gets everybody a little more on his toes. A fine thing.

The WNEW tape recorder has been on the spot at lots of exciting places. When the Chionchio kidnapped baby was found, WNEW reporter Dick Merson interviewed nurse Mary Kevin on the baby's condition at 8 a. m. that morning. At 11:30 a. m. Mrs. Chionchio was interviewed by the ubiquitous Ruth Lloyd and at noon reporter Ed Scott was reporting from the Poplar Street police station as the kidnapper was booked. When Mikoyan arrived the coverage started with an interview with Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm concerning police precautions; at 7:30 p. m. reporter Ike Pappas at Idlewild described and interviewed Hungarian demonstrators. At 9 p. m. Mikoyan had landed and Pappas reported the arrival against a background of "Mikoyan is a murderer" protests.

WNEW has always had lots of personality, a sort of impish charm and originality which is widely imitated by independent radio stations the country over. Its new news coverage, I think, gives it character and a little more depth.

"Our policy is to go after everything if you have time," says Weldon. "We were the only station in New York to broadcast Rockefeller's inauguration speech—live and direct from Albany. While we covered the revolution in Cuba, we plan to remain mostly local, right down to the man on the street. In fact one of our new features is a People's Panel where we ask some people on the street what they think of Rockefeller's new tax plans or whether cops should have a union."

One Big Fire Mars Good 1958 County Record

Mr. Johnson's report shows there were 50 fires in 1958 in the four Western Maryland counties and they burned a total of 346.1 acres.

Allegany County had the unenviable position of accounting for nearly all of the burned acreage. This county's 22 fires destroyed 319.75 acres of woodland. Actually, one spring fire 1st April on Haystack Mountain burned more than 200 acres.

In all four counties more acreage was burned during the spring months than in the fall. Allegany County's six spring fires burned 261 acres and the 16 fall fires only 58.75 acres. In Washington County last year there were 10 fires which burned a total of 13.83 acres, all but 1.33 acres of which occurred in the spring. Garrett County had the best 1958 record with 10 fires for only 3.45 acres.

Frederick County had only eight 1958 fires, which burned 9.16 acres, 6.66 of which occurred in the spring.

The burned acreage in the four counties represented .048 per cent of the 720,000 acres of woodland in the area.

In 1957 there were 61 fires in the four counties but the total burned acreage was 230.31 acres or .032 per cent.

ARC Names Committees

Chauncey M. Sanner, chairman of the local chapter, said the various committees selected are:

Audit committee, Robert L. Ebert, chairman; Mrs. Charles F. Helmrick.

Meeting committee, Mrs. Robert Gerson, chairman; Miss Bella Tonry and George Schwarzenbach.

Nominating committee, George Schwarzenbach, chairman; Duard H. Little and Dr. W. Royce Hodges.

Two Appeals Filed In Circuit Court

Two appeals from Workmen's Compensation Commission decisions were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Zellie S. Lease, mother of William Leroy Lease, as claimant, filed one of the appeals. The case was against Supreme Amusement Company, as employer, and Security Insurance Company as insurer. It was filed for Mrs. Lease by Attorney John M. Robb.

The second appeal was brought by Big Savage Refractories Corporation, as employer, and the State Accident Fund, as insurer. Archie R. Wolfe was the claimant in this case. This appeal was filed by Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert and J. Howard Holzer and Thomas B. Finan, special attorneys for the employer and insurer.

Man Sentenced In Juvenile Court

A 37-year-old Westernport man was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction yesterday at a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson sentenced Robert A. Duckworth after finding him guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother Pfc. Charles "Pete" Jones, who was killed in action 14 years ago today, February 10th, 1945 in Germany.
His pleasant way and smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day I hope to meet him,
Some day, I know not when
To clasp his hand in the better land.
Never to part again.

Mother, Sister and Brothers

In loving memory of our beloved father Joseph O. Mellott, who passed away seventeen years ago today February 10, 1942.
Your memory to us is a keepsake,
With which we'll never part.
Though God has you in His keeping,
We still have you in our hearts.
Daddy if we shed a secret tear
And often breathe a sigh, forgive us.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother Pfc. Charles "Pete" Jones, who was killed in action 14 years ago today, February 10th, 1945 in Germany
His pleasant way and smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day I hope to meet him,
Some day, I know not when.
To clasp his hand in the better land.
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by:
Mother, Sister and Brothers

In loving memory of our beloved father Joseph O. Mellott, who passed away seventeen years ago today February 10, 1942.
Your memory to us is a keepsake,
With which we'll never part.
Though God has you in His keeping,
We still have you in our hearts.
Daddy if we shed a secret tear
And often breathe a sigh, forgive us,
For we miss you more as another year goes by.
Sadly missed by:

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Don't be smug.

Charm Hasn't A Chance If You're Smug

It's sometimes said in a joking way, "Don't be smug." There never was better advice, even when not seriously intended. It isn't possible to be smug and to be charming at the same time.

There's something about a smug statement that rings a heavy curtain down between the smug and anyone who listens to it. "I never eat foreign food." "I wouldn't have modern furniture in my house." "We always do it this certain way in our family."

Perhaps you don't agree with the tastes or the methods of someone else. Why don't you agree with them? A good reason is that you've investigated and considered the matter thoughtfully and have made your decision with good cause. But a bad reason is that you don't know anything about any possibility beyond your own point of view. And it's usually ignorance rather than considered opinion that prompts flat-footed smugness.

Whatever the reason behind it, there's little that's winning about a self-satisfied statement of a set attitude. The person who hears you make it may have a real enthusiasm for what you don't like. Nothing drives anyone away faster than to feel opposition to what is dear to him. And it's ungracious to the point of rudeness to make your opposite view crystal clear. It's unnecessary, too. There are plenty of graceful remarks in good social usage that stop short of it, if something must be said. Or better still, you can encourage discussion of the contrary side of the question. You might learn something that way.

Other than the fact that smugness repels rather than attracts, it has another disadvantage. You miss so much if you walk this wide world with a closed mind.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Clarence Sheetz et al. complainants vs. Katherine S. Plummer, et al., No. 25461 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that George F. Sheetz, widower, died intestate, on May 25, 1948, seized and possessed of certain real estate improved by a 1½ story brick building located at number 124 Oak St., in Cumberland, Md. being the same property conveyed to George F. Sheetz et ux., by deed of Johanna Kyne, widow, dated Oct. 12, 1921, and recorded in Liber No. 138, Folio 505, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

That the said George F. Sheetz left as his only heirs-at-law the following: Clarence Sheetz married to Evelyn Sheetz, P. O. Box 314, Rowlesburg, W. Va.; Donald Sheetz married to Anna Sheetz, 737 Md. Ave., Cumberland, Md.; George K. Sheetz married to Nellie Sheetz, Route 5, Cumberland, Md.; Elmer L. Sheetz married to Lillie Sheetz, Route 4, Cumberland, Md.; Katherine Sheetz Plummer married to William Plummer, 681 Fairview Road, Hyattsville, Md.; Vady Sheetz Mantheiy married to John Mantheiy, 2415 Plainfield Road, Baltimore 22, Md.; Mary Sheetz Skelly married to Harry Skelly, West St., LaVale, Md.; Evelyn Sheetz, single, West St., LaVale, Md.; Shirley Sheetz Brant married to Ronald H. Brant, Somerset Bridge, Bermuda; the said Ronald H. Brant is in the U. S. Navy and his armed services address is U. S. Naval Facility, Navy 138, c/o F. P. O. New York, N. Y.

The Bill further states that the property referred to in the proceedings is not susceptible to partition without substantial loss or injury to the parties entitled to an interest therein, and that in order to make a division of said property it will be necessary to sell the same and divide the proceeds among the parties entitled thereto and prays for a decree to that effect.

It is thereupon, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md., this 31st day of January 1959, that the complainants by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Md. once a week for four succesive weeks before the 5th day of March, 1959 giving notice to Shirley Sheetz Brant and Ronald H. Brant, her husband, non-residents of the State of Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 21st day of March, 1959, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as the Court may deem proper and show cause if any they may have, why the relief prayed therein ought not to be granted as prayed.

To Build Furnace

LONDON (UPI)—Moscow radio claimed Monday Soviet specialists plan to build the world's largest blast furnace. The Communist broadcast said the 2,286 cubic meter furnace will consume 10,000 tons of ore, 7,000 tons of coke and large amounts of other components every day. It did not say where the furnace will be built.

RECOVERS FROM SLASHES

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Anna Maria Colle, 14, was recovering Monday from face and wrist slashes she said were inflicted by a teen-age gang who "wanted to see the color of my blood." She said one of five boys slashed her several times while his friends pinned her arms to her side. "We want to see if you have blue or green blood," one of the boys told her.

The act of smiling brings 13 muscles into play.

ALL THE ANSWERS

PARIS (UPI) — Tailor Pierre Drefus had many of the answers when police asked him to describe the men who attacked and robbed him. Drefus whipped out a notebook and gave the exact measurements of one of the men. He said he was measuring the man for a suit when an accomplice slugged him from the rear.

SHINTO SHRINES BOOKED

TOKYO (UPI) — Nearly all shinto shrines in Japan are booked solid for weddings on April 10—the scheduled date for the nuptials of Crown Prince Akihito and his commoner fiancee, Miss Michiko Shoda. Young people want to be married the same date as the crown prince for luck.

Opening lead: King of ♥.

Even when a contract appears safely in the bag a touch of caution is indicated, as South found to his dismay in today's hand.

That a contract of three no trump would have brought a greater yield is quite apparent, but South feared that a heart opening might be damaging, so he chose the minor suit game.

West led the king of hearts, and declarer became complacent as the dummy was spread. With the normal 3-2 diamond break the contract would become assured, and in the event that diamonds broke unfavorably there was still the chance that the king of spades would be found with West so that the queen would provide a parking place for one of the losing diamonds.

Declarer, therefore, drew trumps in two rounds and then played the ace and ten of spades. West covered with the jack and East smothered dummy's queen. East returned the ten of diamonds and when diamonds failed to break declarer was obliged to give up two tricks in the suit and was down one on his contract.

Though declarer was a victim of a bad break in the cards he could nevertheless attribute the disaster to his own lack of caution. Since a 4-1 diamond break was the thing which could prove embarrassing, he should set about to improve his chances if that distribution exists.

A strip play is indicated so that upon winning the ace of hearts declarer should first ruff a heart. He then reenters dummy with a trump, ruffs out the remaining heart and draws the other trumps. He has now set the stage for a favorable lead, and proper technique is to play a low diamond. In the actual case East will win with the ten and, having no more of the suit, will have to lead a spade, permitting dummy to win with the queen. If East should have another diamond and returns it, when West follows the suit will prove to have broken. If West chooses to overtake the ten of diamonds he will be forced to give declarer a trick with any return.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Clarence Sheetz et al. complainants vs. Katherine S. Plummer, et al., No. 25461 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that George F. Sheetz, widower, died intestate, on May 25, 1948, seized and possessed of certain real estate improved by a 1½ story brick building located at number 124 Oak St., in Cumberland, Md. being the same property conveyed to George F. Sheetz et ux., by deed of Johanna Kyne, widow, dated Oct. 12, 1921, and recorded in Liber No. 138, Folio 505, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

That the said George F. Sheetz left as his only heirs-at-law the following: Clarence Sheetz married to Evelyn Sheetz, P. O. Box 314, Rowlesburg, W. Va.; Donald Sheetz married to Anna Sheetz, 737 Md. Ave., Cumberland, Md.; George K. Sheetz married to Nellie Sheetz, Route 5, Cumberland, Md.; Elmer L. Sheetz married to Lillie Sheetz, Route 4, Cumberland, Md.; Katherine Sheetz Plummer married to William Plummer, 681 Fairview Road, Hyattsville, Md.; Vady Sheetz Mantheiy married to John Mantheiy, 2415 Plainfield Road, Baltimore 22, Md.; Mary Sheetz Skelly married to Harry Skelly, West St., LaVale, Md.; Evelyn Sheetz, single, West St., LaVale, Md.; Shirley Sheetz Brant married to Ronald H. Brant, Somerset Bridge, Bermuda; the said Ronald H. Brant is in the U. S. Navy and his armed services address is U. S. Naval Facility, Navy 138, c/o F. P. O. New York, N. Y.

The Bill further states that the property referred to in the proceedings is not susceptible to partition without substantial loss or injury to the parties entitled to an interest therein, and that in order to make a division of said property it will be necessary to sell the same and divide the proceeds among the parties entitled thereto, and prays for a decree to that effect.

It is thereupon, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md., this 31st day of January 1959, that the complainants by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Md., once a week for four successive weeks before the 5th day of March, 1959 giving notice to Shirley Sheetz Brant and Ronald H. Brant, her husband, non-residents of the State of Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 21st day of March, 1959, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as the Court may deem proper and show cause if any they may have, why the relief prayed therein ought not to be granted as prayed.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Don't be smug.

Charm Hasn't A Chance If You're Smug

It's sometimes said in a joking way, "Don't be smug." There never was better advice, even when not seriously intended. It isn't possible to be smug and to be charming at the same time.

There's something about a smug statement that rings a heavy curtain down between the smug and anyone who listens to it. "I never eat foreign food." "I wouldn't have modern furniture in my house." "We always do it this certain way in our family."

Perhaps you don't agree with the tastes or the methods of someone else. Why don't you agree with them? A good reason is that you've investigated and considered the matter thoughtfully and have made your decision with good cause. But a bad reason is that you don't know anything about any possibility beyond your own point of view. And it's usually ignorance rather than considered opinion that prompts flat-footed smugness.

Whatever the reason behind it, there's little that's winning about a self-satisfied statement of a set attitude. The person who hears you make it may have a real enthusiasm for what you don't like. Nothing drives anyone away faster than to feel opposition to what is dear to him. And it's ungracious to the point of rudeness to make your opposite view crystal clear. It's unnecessary, too. There are plenty of graceful remarks in good social usage that stop short of it, if something must be said. Or better still, you can encourage discussion of the contrary side of the question. You might learn something that way.

Other than the fact that smugness repels rather than attracts, it has another disadvantage. You miss so much if you walk this wide world with a closed mind.

To Build Furnace

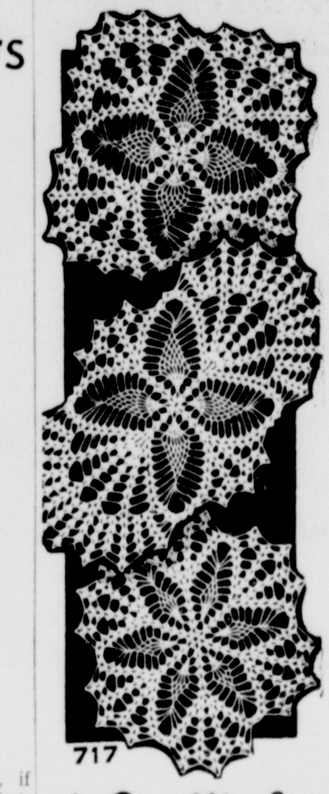

LONDON (UPI)—Moscow radio claimed Monday Soviet specialists plan to build the world's largest blast furnace. The Communist broadcast said the 2,286 cubic meter furnace will consume 10,000 tons of ore, 7,000 tons of coke and large amounts of other components every day. It did not say where the furnace will be built.

RECOVERS FROM SLASHES

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Anna Maria Colle, 14, was recovering Monday from face and wrist slashes she said were inflicted by a teen-age gang who "wanted to see the color of my blood." She said one of five boys slashed her several times while his friends pinned her arms to her side. "We want to see if you have blue or green blood," one of the boys told her.

The act of smiling brings 13 muscles into play.

ALL THE ANSWERS

PARIS (UPI) — Tailor Pierre Drefus had many of the answers when police asked him to describe the men who attacked and robbed him. Drefus whipped out a notebook and gave the exact measurements of one of the men. He said he was measuring the man for a suit when an accomplice slugged him from the rear.

SHINTO SHRINES BOOKED

Opening lead: King of ♥.

Even when a contract appears safely in the bag a touch of caution is indicated, as South found to his dismay in today's hand.

That a contract of three no trump would have brought a greater yield is quite apparent, but South feared that a heart opening might be damaging, so he chose the minor suit game.

West led the king of hearts, and declarer became complacent as the dummy was spread. With the normal 3-2 diamond break the contract would become assured, and in the event that diamonds broke unfavorably there was still the chance that the king of spades would be found with West so that the queen would provide a parking place for one of the losing diamonds.

Declarer, therefore, drew trumps in two rounds and then played the ace and ten of spades. West covered with the jack and East smothered dummy's queen. East returned the ten of diamonds and when diamonds failed to break declarer was obliged to give up two tricks in the suit and was down one on his contract.

Though declarer was a victim of a bad break in the cards he could nevertheless attribute the disaster to his own lack of caution. Since a 4-1 diamond break was the thing which could prove embarrassing, he should set about to improve his chances if that distribution exists.

A strip play is indicated so that upon winning the ace of hearts declarer should first ruff a heart. He then reenters dummy with a trump, ruffs out the remaining heart and draws the other trumps. He has now set the stage for a favorable lead, and proper technique is to play a low diamond. In the actual case East will win with the ten and, having no more of the suit, will have to lead a spade, permitting dummy to win with the queen. If East should have another diamond and returns it, when West follows the suit will prove to have broken. If West chooses to overtake the ten of diamonds he will be forced to give declarer a trick with any return.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Market Suffers Sharpest Decline Since Dec. 1957

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock market values were slashed another 4-billion dollars in an extension of the selling which drove prices down last week for the sharpest decline since December, 1957.

Individual stocks — many of them the bluest of blue chips—lost a point to more than 3 points —and the industrial stock average fell 7.87 points to its lowest level since last Dec. 24.

The selling is seen as largely technical as the market seeks to establish a base for a new attempt at the 600-level in the industrial average, a goal it fell short of repeatedly in recent weeks.

Among the blue chips there were losses of 2⅝ points in American Telephone, 5¾ Du Pont, 1¼ General Motors, 2¼ National Steel and 2 points in U.S. Steel; 3⅞ Texas Co.; a point to 2 in Allied Chemical, American Smelting, American Tobacco, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide. Only Eastman Kodak managed a gain of any size —a rise of a point.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains were mostly steady and strong at the close Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ½ to 1⅜ cents; corn (new) up ¼ to off ⅛ cent; (old) up ⅜ cent; oats up ⅛ to ¼ cent; rye unchanged to up 1⅜ cents; soybeans up 1¼ to off 1½ cents.

Exporters wanted wheat and deferred contracts led the advance. India took 3,700,000 bushels and Pakistan another 1,232,000. Distant September and December moved ⅞ to 1 full cent higher respectively. May went up ⅝ and July jumped ⅞ cent. Commission houses offered May and the strong demand took them from the market almost immediately. Freezing weather forecasts prompted the day's buying. Spot trade had little feature. No sales were recorded.

The market was about steady in corn. New contracts remained mostly unchanged to off ⅛ cent. Old March, however, advanced ⅜ cent on the strength of Northwest broker buying. Dealing were generally light and rather mixed.

Oats steadied after changing of March and May deliveries. The contracts remained steady, up ⅛ cent, as distant July and September moved ¼ cent higher.

Some stop-loss buying in May rye featured an advance into strong levels for March and May contracts. March went ⅝ and May 1⅜ cents higher.

In soybeans, trade was quiet. Prices went strong and weak. Nearby March closed up ¾ and faroff November off 1⅛ cents. Commission houses were on both sides of the market. Upward moves in meal and oil helped the nearby.

Market Suffers Sharpest Decline Since Dec. 1957

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock market values were slashed another 4-billion dollars in an extension of the selling which drove prices down last week for the sharpest decline since December, 1957.

Individual stocks — many of them the bluest of blue chips—lost a point to more than 3 points —and the industrial stock average fell 7.87 points to its lowest level since last Dec. 24.

The selling is seen as largely technical as the market seeks to establish a base for a new attempt at the 600-level in the industrial average, a goal it fell short of repeatedly in recent weeks.

The drop for this session, brought to 12-billion dollars the overall decline in paper values from the year's high established on Jan. 21.

Among the blue chips there were losses of 2⅝ points in American Telephone, 5¾ Du Pont, 1¼ General Motors, 2¼ National Steel and 2 points in U.S. Steel; 3⅞ Texas Co.; a point to 2 in Allied Chemical, American Smelting, American Tobacco, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide. Only Eastman Kodak managed a gain of any size —a rise of a point.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPD—Grains were mostly steady and strong at the close Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ½ to 1⅝ cents; corn (new) up ¼ to off ⅛ cent; (old) up ⅜ cent; oats up ⅛ to ¼ cent; rye unchanged to up 1⅝ cents; soybeans up 1¼ to off 1½ cents.

Local short covering and increased export buying firmed the market in the opening session. Small lot orders set the day's upward direction.

Exporters wanted wheat and deferred contracts led the advance. India took 3,700,000 bushels and Pakistan another 1,232,000. Distant September and December moved ¾ to 1 full cent higher respectively. May went up ⅝ and July jumped ⅞ cent. Commission houses ordered May and the strong demand took them from the market almost immediately. Freezing weather forecasts prompted the day's buying. Spot trade had little feature. No sales were recorded.

The market was about steady in corn. New contracts remained mostly unchanged to off ⅛ cent. Old March, however, advanced ⅜ cent on the strength of Northwest broker buying. Dealing were generally light and rather mixed.

Oats steadied after changing of March and May deliveries. The contracts remained steady, up ⅛ cent, as distant July and September moved ¼ cent higher.

Some stop-loss buying in May rye featured an advance into strong levels for March and May contracts. March went ⅝ and May 1⅜ cents higher.

In soybeans, trade was quiet. Prices went strong and weak. Nearby March closed up ⅝ and faroff November off 1¼ cents. Commission houses were on both sides of the market. Upward moves in meal and oil helped the nearby.

Grains at outside markets were firm.

Civil Service Board To Study Appeal Case

Duties Of Abolished, New Job Discussed

The Civil Service Commission met yesterday to determine whether the spirit and intent of the Civil Service rules were violated when the Water Department hired a maintenance man for duties formerly performed by a worker who lost his job when his position was abolished.

The hearing arose from a complaint filed by Lester Miller, Hazen Road Extended, who argued through his attorney, Simon F. Reilly, that Charles F. True, 306 Grand Avenue, was hired for duties he performed before his pipefitter's position was abolished last October.

William R. Carscaden, city attorney, and Water and Light Commissioner G. Ray Light represented the city.

Mr. Carscaden testified on the job classification of the man and on the order which resulted in Mr. Miller's discharge when the pipefitter's job was abolished.

Study Is Made

Mr. Reilly said Mr. Miller's job classification of pipefitter was a mere misnomer and asked the board to rule he was a laboring man.

A mere title of job classification, he said, does not say what a job is and the board should consider the duties performed by Mr. Miller and the man who supplanted him.

Mr. Carscaden said job classification was attempted several years ago at the plant, without a description of duties.

He said that Mr. Light made a study of the plant's operation and personnel last fall and found the city didn't need a pipefitter.

He pointed out that testimony showed Mr. Miller performed pipefitting duties only four to six days a year.

The city attorney said that if the Water Department were to hire a pipefitter, Mr. Miller would be entitled to the position but that the city feels he has no rights to the job held by Mr. True.

The man should not be shunted aside, Mr. Reilly said, on a mere technicality.

Awaits Transcript

Both Mr. Miller and Mr. True testified as to their assignments, which included digging ditches, upkeep of the grounds, painting and the like.

Mr. Miller had been employed at the plant since 1951 and Mr. True was hired December 1.

Testimony showed that before job classification, the plant had two labor foremen and only one man classified as laborer.

Mr. Kenney said the Civil Service Commission will meet to consider the case after testimony is transcribed.

Civitan Essay Contest Is Set

Any senior in a public or parochial high school in Cumberland may compete in the local essay contest sponsored by the Cumberland Civitan Club, according to Eugene J. Hopkins, local contest chairman.

Last year Miss Linda Craze of Cumberland, then a Fort Hill High School senior, won the Civitan International contest which entitled her to a $1,200 college scholarship. Miss Craze is now working in Washington but plans to utilize the scholarship next September.

The next step is the district contest, in which the winner is to be named by May 15. Names of the ten international winners will be announced at the Civitan International Convention in Colorado Springs, Colo., in late June.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed this contest on the approved list of national contests and activities for 1958-59.

'Fireworks' Measure Proves Dud

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill doubling commissions for administrators of wealthy estates which was touted as the first big fireworks display of the Maryland General Assembly turned out to be a dud Monday night.

It passed without a word spoken and by a vote of 97-8 in the House of Delegates and was sent to Gov. Tawes for action of his pen.

The delegates also completed their part of the approval needed to set up a procedure for jailing of state's trial witnesses, ease the compulsory insurance for auto drivers involved in accidents, give local police authority over shopping centers, and revise the state law applicable to dentists.

The House also pushed toward passage a recommendation by Gov. Tawes to establish a department of economic development and incorporate the Department of Information.

The proposal to increase from two to four per cent the maximum commission allowed administrators on personal estates exceeding $20,000 had been expected to spark a dispute since a move had been made last Friday to delay its enactment.

Del. Bacharach (D-Balto 5th) made the motion in order to try to have the bill recommitted to the Ways & Means Committee for further study. A couple of other delegates said they had the same idea.

However, when the bill was called up Monday night nobody stirred and it sailed through.

"The bill was so heavily pressured, I realized it was impossible to get enough votes to recommit," said Bacharach in explanation of his silence.

He had mentioned last week it was a "heavily lobbied bill."

Two prominent Democratic leaders, William C. Walsh of Cumberland and Lawrence B. Fenneman of Baltimore, are registered as lobbyists for the bill in behalf of 11 banks.

The bill applying to state's witnesses will permit them to be held only seven days in jail if they can't furnish bail. There have been several reported instances of them being jailed for months while awaiting to testify at trials.

Allegheny Halts Plane Service To Cumberland

CAB Investigation Will Decide Issue

Allegheny Airlines ended flights to the Cumberland Municipal Airport yesterday.

The action was taken after the Civil Aeronautics Board ruled it was not in the public interest to force the airline to continue service to Cumberland and several other points on its Route 97 while an investigation of the need of the communities for air service is made.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech was notified of the action yesterday by city airport officials.

Last Flights Leave

Robert Berkebile, local manager for Allegheny Airlines, said he was notified Sunday that yesterday would be the last day for flights to Cumberland.

In acting on the city's request for a time extension, the CAB authorized, but did not order, Allegheny to serve Cumberland and several other points from February 10 until 60 days after a final decision is made.

Commercial air service was started here March 7, 1949, by All American, predecessor of Allegheny.

Not Enough Passengers

For several years, the company has been trying to drop service here and at a number of other points on its Route 97, saying that an average of only 1.9 passengers use the service daily and that the firm could save $19,500 a year if it halted service. It also said there is no prospect that traffic will reach the five-a-day minimum set by the CAB.

The city argues that Allegheny, seeking to switch from feeder to trunk line service, failed to provide schedules needed by this industrial center and that halt of service would be a damaging blow to the area's industrial promotion plans.

Police Grab Three Youths In Stolen Car

West Virginia State Police nabbed three teen-age youths driving a stolen Ohio car at a roadblock set up on U. S. 50 about five miles east of Romney.

Troopers W. A. Steffick and William Barlow grabbed the three boys, two aged 16 and one 15, when they came to the roadblock after leaving an Aurora service station without paying for gasoline they ordered.

Police said the three juveniles stole the car in Warren, Ohio, Sunday.

After he had put about 15 gallons of gasoline in the car, the three suddenly sped away without paying.

State Police at Romney were notified of the gas theft and a description of the car, its occupants and its license registration was noted.

Setting up roadblocks on all highways leading out of Aurora, State Police spotted the car headed east on Route 50 shortly after the three youths apparently passed through Romney. They had covered approximately 60 miles from Aurora before being flagged down at the roadblock by the state troopers.

Held overnight, the three yesterday waived extradition and were returned to Warren by Ohio authorities. They made restitution to the service station owner for the gasoline before they were released by Romney police.

Court To Close

McMullen Will Head Roads Commission

Cumberlander Will Serve Until June

BALTIMORE (AP) — John J. McMullen, Cumberland newspaper publisher, will be the new head of the State Roads Commission, Gov. Tawes confirmed Monday.

Robert O. Bonnell, current chairman of the three-member commission, has resigned from the $25,000 a year job effective Feb. 16. Bonnell, a Republican, was appointed by Gov. McKeldin in 1956.

Tawes said McMullen, the Democratic member of the commission, "has kindly agreed to serve as chairman until the new commission is established."

Will Reorganize

The new Democratic governor has made plans for reorganizing the agency and expects to present them later this week at a joint session of the heavily Democratic General Assembly.

It is understood McMullen will serve as commission chairman until June 1, when the reorganization would go into effect.

The governor's plan is expected to call for doubling the commission membership to six and creating a new post of executive director. The members would have to come from various geographical sections of the state.

Bonnell's resignation, submitted last week, had been anticipated, and it was widely reported that McMullen would be named to succeed him. The roads chairman, one of the state's most important appointive officials, serves at the pleasure of the governor.

Tawes announced McMullen's appointment at a luncheon meeting of the Maryland Highways Contractors Assn.

Wise Spending Vital

He noted the SRC spends about 100 million dollars a year on highway construction and maintenance, more than is spent by any other state agency.

"It is imperative that these monies be spent wisely and that the citizens of this state receive a full return from the expenditures made," he said.

The governor urged the contractors to continue to assist the commission through suggestions on preparation of specifications for material, highways, bridges and incidental structures.

"Constructive criticism is a good thing. It should be given in a spirit of cooperation and should be so received," he said.

Police Probe Forced Entry Of Gas Station

$55 Said Missing From Cabinet Safe

City police are investigating the entry of the Sinclair Service Station, 63 Henderson Avenue, sometime before 5 a. m. Sunday. A cabinet safe was broken into and $55 in cash is reported missing.

Detective Thomas See said Kenneth Valentine, operator of the station, reported the breaking and entering. Entrance apparently was gained through a rear window which was broken at the lock.

Window Smashed, Door Forced

Police believe a brick obtained at the rear of the service station was used to smash the glass. The intruders then forced an inner door to the stock room with a screwdriver apparently picked up in the station's grease room.

Investigation indicated the combination lock to the money cabinet was not forced, as there were no marks on the door or lock. The bills and change were taken from the cabinet, police said they were informed.

Two sets of footprints leading to and from the rear window were found in the wet ground. The intruders apparently crossed two yards from a rear alley to reach the building, police said.

Another Entry Probed

Meanwhile, the forced entry of the Christopher Columbo Society clubhouse, 110 North Mechanic Street, is still being probed.

Entry to this building on February 4 also was gained through a rear window and approximately $80 in cash is missing from the cash register. In addition, an unknown sum of money was taken from a juke box and shuffleboard machine and from the rear of the bar where some silver had been wrapped in money wrappers.

State Police also reported a forced entry sometime over the weekend. A storage room at Sunset Memorial Park was broken into and approximately $50 in tools was taken.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said the lock was forced off the hasp to the door of the building.

The entry was discovered yesterday morning.

Freezing Rain Follows Early Area Snowfall

Icy Roads Make Driving Hazardous

A misty rain which quickly froze last night covered the tri-state area with a thin, icy glaze which made highways slick and driving extremely hazardous.

The rainfall followed yesterday's early morning snowfall which blanketed the ground, then melted during the day.

Cumberland had about one-half inch of snow, which gradually disappeared. An early afternoon fog also settled over the area, accompanying the misty rainfall and murky skies.

The temperatures at Constitution Park here recorded a low of 26 degrees, then rose to 30, where it remained constant throughout the day.

Drivers Urged To Stay Home

The fog cleared somewhat in the early evening hours but the roads, wet from the snow, became increasingly slick and icy as the rain continued after nightfall.

State Police said the highways both east and west were so bad late last night they were recommending that motorists drive only where necessary.

Garrett County had no snow west of Grantsville but overcast skies and muddy, wet roads, made conditions miserable. State Roads Commission crews cindered, salted and sanded roads after midnight Sunday, before conditions cleared during the day.

Highways became slick as sleet began falling and freezing last night. Approximately .06 inch of rain fell during the day, but last night's freeze made walking and driving very dangerous.

Turnpike Dangerous

Pennsylvania State Police reported Routes 36 and 220 were "very bad" last night. The Turnpike, both east and west, also was dangerously slick, they said.

Nearby West Virginia had cloudy weather and temperatures ranging in the low 40s during the day, but a light rain last night made highways and secondary roads in that area wet.

Forecast today is cloudy with occasional light rain. Temperatures will be in the 40s.

Former ABL Engineer Is Promoted

Alexander F. Giacco, formerly of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, has been named manager of plans and programs for Hercules Powder Company's Chemical Propulsion Division. He has been senior technical specialist in the explosives department's division since May 1958.

F. M. Hakenjos, manager of the division, said that Mr. Giacco will be responsible for evaluation of the use of Hercules propellants in new weapons systems and in other military or commercial applications. He also will determine the scope of development or production programs required for any new applications of propellants.

Hercules Chemical Propulsion Division is responsible for development and production of propellants for rockets and missiles at company plants in Kenvil, N. J., and Bacchus, Utah, as well as at government-owned plants operated by Hercules at Radford, Va., Lawrence, Kans., and Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto.

A native of Meriden, Conn., Mr. Giacco was graduated in 1942 from Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

He joined Hercules in March of 1942 at Radford Arsenal, Radford, Va., and in January of 1946 he was appointed a research assistant at ABL here. Mr. Giacco served at ABL until September of 1948 when he was transferred to the company's Kenvil, N. J., plant. He returned to Radford in 1950 and from 1951 to 1954 he was technical director there.

Mr. Giacco then was appointed technical superintendent at Kenvil in October of 1954, transferring to the chemical division in May of 1958.

Civil Service Board To Study Appeal Case

Duties Of Abolished, New Job Discussed

The Civil Service Commission met yesterday to determine whether the spirit and intent of the Civil Service rules were violated when the Water Department hired a maintenance man for duties formerly performed by a worker who lost his job when his position was abolished.

The hearing arose from a complaint filed by Lester Miller, Hazen Road Extended, who argued through his attorney, Simon F. Reilly, that Charles F. True, 306 Grand Avenue, was hired for duties he performed before his pipefitter's position was abolished last October.

Francis A. Kenney, chairman, presided at the 90-minute hearing held by the three-man board yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber.

William R. Carscaden, city attorney, and Water and Light Commissioner G. Ray Light represented the city.

Mr. Carscaden testified on the job classification of the man and on the order which resulted in Mr. Miller's discharge when the pipefitter's job was abolished.

Study Is Made

Mr. Reilly said Mr. Miller's job classification of pipefitter was a mere misnomer and asked the board to rule he was a laboring man.

A mere title of job classification, he said, does not say what a job is and the board should consider the duties performed by Mr. Miller and the man who supplanted him.

Mr. Carscaden said job classification was attempted several years ago at the plant, without a description of duties.

He said that Mr. Light made a study of the plant's operation and personnel last fall and found the city didn't need a pipefitter.

He pointed out that testimony showed Mr. Miller performed pipefitting duties only four to six days a year.

The city attorney said that if the Water Department were to hire a pipefitter, Mr. Miller would be entitled to the position but that the city feels he has no rights to the job held by Mr. True.

The man should not be shunted aside, Mr. Reilly said, on a mere technicality.

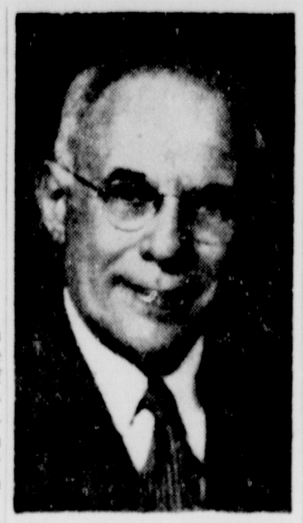

Awaits Transcript

Both Mr. Miller and Mr. True testified as to their assignments, which included digging ditches, upkeep of the grounds, painting and the like.

Mr. Miller had been employed at the plant since 1951 and Mr. True was hired December 1.

Testimony showed that before job classification, the plant had two labor foremen and only one man classified as laborer.

Mr. Kenney said the Civil Service Commission will meet to consider the case after testimony is transcribed.

'Fireworks' Measure Proves Dud

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill doubling commissions for administrators of wealthy estates which was touted as the first big fireworks display of the Maryland General Assembly turned out to be a dud Monday night.

It passed without a word spoken and by a vote of 97-8 in the House of Delegates and was sent to Gov. Tawes for action of his pen.

The delegates also completed their part of the approval needed to set up a procedure for jailing of state's trial witnesses, ease the compulsory insurance for auto drivers involved in accidents, give local police authority over shopping centers, and revise the state law applicable to dentists.

The House also pushed toward passage a recommendation by Gov. Tawes to establish a department of economic development and incorporate the Department of Information.

The proposal to increase from two to four per cent the maximum commission allowed administrators on personal estates exceeding $20,000 had been expected to spark a dispute since a move had been made last Friday to delay its enactment.

Del. Bacharach (D-Balto 5th) made the motion in order to try to have the bill recommitted to the Ways & Means Committee for further study. A couple of other delegates said they had the same idea.

However, when the bill was called up Monday night nobody stirred and it sailed through.

"The bill was so heavily pressured, I realized it was impossible to get enough votes to recommit," said Bacharach in explanation of his silence.

He had mentioned last week it was a "heavily lobbied bill."

Two prominent Democratic leaders, William C. Walsh of Cumberland and Lawrence B. Fenneman of Baltimore, are registered as lobbyists for the bill in behalf of 11 banks.

The bill applying to state's witnesses will permit them to be held only seven days in jail if they can't furnish bail. There have been several reported instances of them being jailed for months while awaiting to testify at trials.

Civitan Essay Contest Is Set

The next step is the district contest, in which the winner is to be named by May 15. Names of the ten international winners will be announced at the Civitan International Convention in Colorado Springs, Colo., in late June.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed this contest on the approved list of national contests and activities for 1958-59.

Allegheny Halts Plane Service To Cumberland

CAB Investigation Will Decide Issue

Allegheny Airlines ended flights to the Cumberland Municipal Airport yesterday.

The action was taken after the Civil Aeronautics Board ruled it was not in the public interest to force the airline to continue service to Cumberland and several other points on its Route 97 while an investigation of the need of the communities for air service is made.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech was notified of the action yesterday by city airport officials.

Last Flights Leave

Robert Berkebile, local manager for Allegheny Airlines, said he was notified Sunday that yesterday would be the last day for flights to Cumberland.

In acting on the city's request for a time extension, the CAB authorized, but did not order, Allegheny to serve Cumberland and several other points from February 10 until 60 days after a final decision is made.

A joint petition for permanent continuation of air service here has been forwarded by the City of Cumberland, the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and the State Aviation Commission.

Commercial air service was started here March 7, 1949, by All American, predecessor of Allegheny.

Not Enough Passengers

For several years, the company has been trying to drop service here and at a number of other points on its Route 97, saying that an average of only 1.9 passengers use the service daily and that the firm could save $19,500 a year if it halted service. It also said there is no prospect that traffic will reach the five-a-day minimum set by the CAB.

The city argues that Allegheny, seeking to switch from feeder to trunk line service, failed to provide schedules needed by this industrial center and that halt of service would be a damaging blow to the area's industrial promotion plans.

Police Grab Three Youths In Stolen Car

West Virginia State Police nabbed three teen-age youths driving a stolen Ohio car at a roadblock set up on U. S. 50 about five miles east of Romney.

Troopers W. A. Steffick and William Barlow grabbed the three boys, two aged 16 and one 15, when they came to the roadblock after leaving an Aurora service station without paying for gasoline they ordered.

Police said the three juveniles stole the car in Warren, Ohio, Sunday.

They stopped at Pritchard's service station at Aurora Sunday afternoon and ordered the attendant to fill the gas tank.

After he had put about 15 gallons of gasoline in the car, the three suddenly sped away without paying.

State Police at Romney were notified of the gas theft and a description of the car, its occupants and its license registration was noted.

Setting up roadblocks on all highways leading out of Aurora, State Police spotted the car headed east on Route 50 shortly after the three youths apparently passed through Romney. They had covered approximately 60 miles from Aurora before being flagged down at the roadblock by the state troopers.

Held overnight, the three yesterday waived extradition and were returned to Warren by Ohio authorities. They made restitution to the service station owner for the gasoline before they were released by Romney police.

McMullen Will Head Roads Commission

Cumberlander Will Serve Until June

BALTIMORE (AP) — John J. McMullen, Cumberland newspaper publisher, will be the new head of the State Roads Commission, Gov. Tawes confirmed Monday.

Robert O. Bonnell, current chairman of the three-member commission, has resigned from the $25,000 a year job effective Feb. 16. Bonnell, a Republican, was appointed by Gov. McKeldin in 1956.

Tawes said McMullen, the Democratic member of the commission, "has kindly agreed to serve as chairman until the new commission is established."

Will Reorganize

The new Democratic governor has made plans for reorganizing the agency and expects to present them later this week at a joint session of the heavily Democratic General Assembly.

It is understood McMullen will serve as commission chairman until June 1, when the reorganization would go into effect.

The governor's plan is expected to call for doubling the commission membership to six and creating a new post of executive director. The members would have to come from various geographical sections of the state.

Bonnell's resignation, submitted last week, had been anticipated, and it was widely reported that McMullen would be named to succeed him. The roads chairman, one of the state's most important appointive officials, serves at the pleasure of the governor.

Tawes announced McMullen's appointment at a luncheon meeting of the Maryland Highways Contractors Assn.

Wise Spending Vital

He noted the SRC spends about 100 million dollars a year on highway construction and maintenance, more than is spent by any other state agency.

"It is imperative that these monies be spent wisely and that the citizens of this state receive a full return from the expenditures made," he said.

The governor urged the contractors to continue to assist the commission through suggestions on preparation of specifications for material, highways, bridges and incidental structures.

"Constructive criticism is a good thing. It should be given in a spirit of cooperation and should be so received," he said.

Police Probe Forced Entry Of Gas Station

$55 Said Missing From Cabinet Safe

City police are investigating the entry of the Sinclair Service Station, 63 Henderson Avenue, sometime before 5 a. m. Sunday. A cabinet safe was broken into and $55 in cash is reported missing.

Detective Thomas See said Kenneth Valentine, operator of the station, reported the breaking and entering. Entrance apparently was gained through a rear window which was broken at the lock.

Window Smashed, Door Forced

Police believe a brick obtained at the rear of the service station was used to smash the glass. The intruders then forced an inner door to the stock room with a screwdriver apparently picked up in the station's grease room.

The cash register and small cabinet with a combination lock were located in the stock room.

Highways became slick as sleet began falling and freezing last night. Approximately .06 inch of rain fell during the day, but last night's freeze made walking and driving very dangerous.

Turnpike Dangerous

Official temperatures at Oakland were recorded at a high of 43 degrees and a low of 32 yesterday.

Pennsylvania State Police reported Routes 36 and 220 were "very bad" last night. The Turnpike, both east and west, also was dangerously slick, they said.

Nearby West Virginia had cloudy weather and temperatures ranging in the low 40s during the day, but a light rain last night made highways and secondary roads in that area wet.

Forecast today is cloudy with occasional light rain. Temperatures will be in the 40s.
